Survival Day Was Just About That in Ottawa

Civic officials took to the streets on bicycles Wednesday in Ottawa as part of that city's Survival Day activities and most of them were lucky that they survived at all.

The race, viewed by thousands of Ottawa residents and visitors to the city were treated to thrills, spills and crashes that are normally associated with stock car and demolition derby races.

At one point, Minister of Indian Affairs and Northern Development Jean Chretien (above), heads for the sidewalk curb as he tries to avoid running into a group of other officials who crashed during the race on Wellington Street.

Chretien (left), displays a large bump on his head that he got after hitting the curb and spilling to the concrete. His expression clearly mirrors his feelings after the accident. The Minister left the race and headed for the safety of his Parliament Hill office, deciding that the rigors of law-making are less taxing physically than a bike ride through the streets. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Hanoi Restates Rejection

Saigon Hints Easing of Stand on Peace Plan

PARIS. (AP) — The Vietnamese Communists forcefully restated today Hanoi's rejection of President Nixon's peace plan, but U.S. Ambassador David K.E. Bruce told them he was awaiting "a more considered and constructive response."

At the same time, South Vietnamese officials said they were considering the delegation described as new political proposals in an attempt to break the deadlock at the Paris peace talks. It carried a hint that Saigon might accept a formula other than elections to decide South Vietnam's political future.

Bruce called the Nixon plan a set of "specific and logical proposals that should become a basis for detailed negotiations."

He reminded his adversaries: "You indicated that you would be commenting on the President's proposals more definitively at this and subsequent sessions. Today we await a more considered and constructive response."

South Vietnamese Ambassador Pham Dang Lam told the weekly session of the Vietnam peace talks that his government "has the sincere conviction that free elections open to all political parties and groups in South Vietnam, including the National Liberation Front... would constitute the best and... most rational way for the South Vietnamese population to exercise genuinely its right of self-determination."

Lam did not say what arrangement other than elections Saigon might be willing to discuss. But when President Nguyen Van Thieu first proposed free elections on July 11, 1969, he said, "The only way for the people of South Vietnam to exercise their right of self-determination... is through elections..."

Lam's softening on this point was in line with one point in the five-point proposal Nixon made Oct. 7. Nixon skirted the question of elections and spoke of "the political process agreed upon."

Echoing a Hanoi broadcast earlier today, Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, the Viet Cong's chief delegate to the talks, told newsmen that the Viet Cong, North Vietnam and their allies in Laos and Cambodia "have categorically rejected" Mr. Nixon's pseudo plan of peace.

Following her to the microphone outside the conference room, Ambassador Xuan Thuy of North Vietnam said, "The peace put forth by Mr. Nixon is a false peace." He said the Americans must address themselves to the "just and reasonable solution" advanced by Mrs. Binh last Sept. 17, a restatement of Communist demands which the Americans rejected.

The broadcast statement by the North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry rejected Nixon's proposal as "a deceptive maneuver" and a "fraud."

Despite the uncompromising tone of Hanoi's statement, State Department officials in Washington said it appeared to be a typical Communist bargaining device, and Washington does not regard it as North Vietnam's last word on Nixon's plan.

The North Vietnamese statement declared the American plan does not "contribute at all to the peaceful settlement of the Indochinese problem but only serves the scheme to prolong and expand its aggressive war in Indochina."

Nixon fears "new isolationism" ... story Page 30.

The statement repeated the Communist demands for unconditional withdrawal of all American troops and U.S. abandonment of President Nguyen Van Thieu, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky and their associates.

Hanoi said Nixon's proposal for a large-scale international conference, on the order of the previous Geneva conferences, was "nothing but a cunning trick aimed at fooling public opinion and hiding the fact that the United States must change its policy and end its aggression against the three Indochinese countries."

The other four points of Nixon's proposal were:

—A cease-fire and military standstill throughout Indochina, with international supervision to help maintain it.

—Negotiations to work out a timetable for complete withdrawal of U.S. troops as part of an over-all settlement.

—A political settlement reflecting "the will of the South Vietnamese people" and also "the existing relationship of political forces."

—Immediate and unconditional release of all prisoners of war held by both sides.

Hanoi said Nixon had "linked the U.S. troop withdrawal with the over-all settlement of the In-dochinese problem, thus posing more conditions for the withdrawal of American troops."

"On the political problem in South Vietnam," the statement continued, "the U.S. viewpoint on the 'right to self-determination' boils down essentially to maintaining the Thieu Ky-Khiem puppet clique... opposing the formation of the provisional coalition government and asking for the right of the Saigon puppet administration to organize fraudulent elections."

The U.S. Command's weekly casualty summary reported that 46 Americans were killed in action last week, an increase of eight over the previous week, which was a 4½ year low. Headquarters said this was the 15th consecutive week that U.S. battlefield deaths were under 90.

The County Medical Society Again Backs Fluoridation

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON — The Medical Society of Ulster County, in a letter to Mayor Francis R. Koenig and the Kingston Common Council, has "strongly reaffirmed" its recommendation of fluoridation for the city taken several years ago.

The letter was sent to the mayor and the Common Council over the signature of Dr. John L. Alley, president of the medical society. Dr. Alley is a urologist with offices at 204 Fair Street.

It reads in full: "In view of the fact that the fluoridation of the Kingston water supply is an issue of extreme interest at the time, the Medical Society of the County of Ulster wishes to go on record at this time as strongly reaffirming its position taken several years ago on this question."

"The medical society feels very strongly that all scientific evidence points to the fact that appropriate concentration of fluorine in drinking water significantly reduces the incidence of dental decay and that such concentrations present no hazard whatsoever to public health."

Special

Meanwhile, Alderman Donald E. Quick (D-Sixth Ward), chairman of the Common Council's Laws and Rules Committee, told The Freeman that he will be meeting with his committee late next week to discuss setting up a public meeting on fluoridation at city hall. Quick indicated that the public meeting, where "both sides will be heard," will be held on either Oct. 28 or 29, most likely on the 28th.

Quick said that there was still some question as to which body will vote on fluoridation, the Council or the Kingston Water Board. "Our corporation counsel, Aaron Klein, is working on that question," Quick said, "and we should have a definite answer very shortly."

Quick held out the possibility of the Council's voting on the issue if it is the sole prerogative of the Water Board. "If it turns out to be the water board's responsibility," Quick said, "I think it would still be in order for us (the Council) to make a recommendation one way or the other."

Quick's committee has been studying the fluoridation issue since August when Dr. William J. Taylor, Ulster County commissioner of health, sent a letter to the Council recommending the addition of the chemical to the city's water supply as a tooth decay deterrent.

Two Take Over Soviet Plane

Hostess Killed by Skyjackers

ISTANBUL (UPI)—A Lithuanian truckdriver and his 19-year-old son, armed with seven guns and three grenades, hijacked a Soviet airliner today and forced it to fly to Turkey.

An airline hostess was reported killed in a battle aboard the plane and two pilots wounded. It was the first known successful hijacking of a Soviet plane, although three abortive attempts were reported earlier.

The 46-year-old Lithuanian and his son surrendered to Turkish gendarmes at Trabzon and asked for political asylum. The Russian plane, identified as a twin engine turboprop similar to a Fokker F27 friendship, was on a domestic run between the Soviet Black Sea coastal cities of Batumi and Sochi with 46 passengers when it was forced to turn toward Trabzon.

Officials said the hijackers carried five pistols of various sizes, two sawed off shotguns, three homemade hand grenades and "a substantial amount" of ammunition.

Their names were withheld but officials said they lived in the Soviet Uzbekistan Republic in central Asia.

Unofficial reports said both men forced their way with drawn guns into the pilot's cabin shortly after takeoff from Batumi at 10:30 a.m. (4:30 a.m. EDT).

The collapse halted work on what is to be Australia's largest bridge, over a mile long, spanning the Yarra River in the southern part of Melbourne.

The hostess tried to block their way and they shot her dead on the spot, the reports said. A few minutes later they wounded the pilots, one of them seriously, Turkish officials said.

The plane arrived at Trabzon at noon (6 a.m. EDT), firing flares to demand permission to land. Trabzon assistant Governor Haluk Hergok told UPI.

He said the passengers were put up at a hotel in Trabzon and the two wounded pilots hospitalized.

Turkish air force headquarters and political police slapped an immediate ban on all flights in and out of Trabzon as an investigation got underway.

Soviet officials in Moscow had no confirmation or comment on the Istanbul reports. In the past, the Soviets have delayed reporting airline hijackings from abroad by as much as four days, sometimes ignoring them altogether.

Reports of three previous attempted hijackings in the Soviet Union reached the Russian capital by way of delayed provincial newspaper reports.

The last such report came early last summer in Leningrad's Pravda, the Communist Party newspaper of Leningrad, which said police had arrested an unspecified number of persons who were about to attempt a hijacking.

Dissident sources said later those arrested included Soviet Jews attempting to get to Israel via Helsinki, and so far as is known, they are still detained.

A few years before that another newspaper said a group of hijackers tried to divert a Russian plane to Turkey but were thwarted by the pilot, who landed in Soviet territory. The hijackers were arrested.

24 Killed as Bridge Collapses

MELBOURNE, Australia.

(AP) — Twenty-four workmen were killed and 19 injured today when a 2,000-ton section of a bridge under construction in Melbourne fell 134 feet to the ground. Twenty-five other workmen were missing, authorities said.

The collapse halted work on what is to be Australia's largest bridge, over a mile long, spanning the Yarra River in the southern part of Melbourne.

Known as the West Gate Bridge, its eight lanes are expected to carry 30,000 cars and trucks daily. Completion was scheduled for next year.

Within hours of the accident, unions withdrew their men from the $47 million project and Premier Sir Henry Bolte of Victoria State ordered an investigation into the disaster.

About 70 welders were on the prefabricated steel and concrete span when it gave way and thundered down on construction sheds along the riverbank where other workers were eating their lunches.

A fire broke out, and fire engines and every available ambulance were ordered to the scene. Three huge mobile cranes were moved in to lift debris.

"The bloody thing cracked in the middle," said one of the injured welders. "I was on top of it."

Rocky's Endorsement Faces Challenge

AL SMITH EXHIBITION — Governor Nelson Rockefeller poses with Mrs. Francis Quillinan (L) and Mrs. John T. Warner, both daughters of the late Alfred E. Smith, four time Governor of New York and 1928 presidential candidate. Rockefeller and the ladies were on hand Wednesday to open an exhibition honoring Smith. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

By United Press International
Governor Rockefeller's latest endorsement by the New York State AFL-CIO will be challenged in court by union backers of Democrat Arthur J. Goldberg. Victor Gotbaum, president of Council 37 American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, announced in New York City Wednesday he would file a legal challenge to the endorsement. Gotbaum's statement came less than an hour after the AFL-CIO meeting in Kiamasha Lake reaffirmed its endorsement of the governor.

Gotbaum's 150,000 member union led a boycott of the AFL-CIO convention and staged a rally in City Hall Park. Gotbaum said the group meeting at Kiamasha Lake supported "some fink millionaire while we present a guy who comes out of the slums of Chicago." Last month a convention of the large labor group produced a disputed endorsement of Rockefeller. At that time Gotbaum objected to the fact that no roll call vote was taken and said it was possible that non-delegates or delegates representing a small amount of union members had joined in the voice vote for Rockefeller.

A "clear majority" of unionists support Goldberg and his running mate, Basil A. Paterson, Gotbaum said. Adam Walinsky, the Democratic candidate for attorney general, addressed the rump convention. Walinsky's opponent, Incumbent Louis J. Lefkowitz has the endorsement of the Kiamasha Lake group. "It doesn't matter what they say in the Catskills today," Walinsky said. "What matters is what we do here today and for the next three weeks."

Rockefeller got a clean majority at the regular convention, which was peaceful compared to last month's meeting which ended in fist fighting. Raymond Corbett, who backed Rockefeller, was reelected president of the state group. At one point, Corbett called the absent union leaders "bad guys" and said "I am hopeful they gather more nuts than usual down in City Hall Park." Later, however, he said "we stand with open arms to welcome back despite our differences of opinion."

In the U.S. Senate race: Rep. Richard L. Ottinger addressed a Democratic fund-raising dinner in Ithaca and criticized James Buckley, the Conservative candidate for "ignoring problems and hoping they will go away." Asked why he did not mention Sen. Charles E. Goodell in his speech, Ottinger said all the polls he has seen show Goodell to be far behind.

"I wish we had the luxury of running this race only against Charles Goodell," Ottinger said. Ottinger said "the Agnew administration" apparently agrees that Goodell is far behind and that is why the White House refuses to endorse the incumbent. Goodell also attacked Buckley in an appearance in Ithaca to open a campaign headquarters. The senator said Buckley is a candidate "for whom only the very rich can afford to vote." He said Buckley opposes revenue sharing, welfare reform and federal money for housing, health and education.

Tougher Air Standards

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state's commissioner of environmental conservation is proposing tougher standards to protect New Yorkers against the health hazards of dirty air. Commissioner Henry L. Diamond has recommended changes in the standards for such substances as sulfur dioxide, carbon monoxide, hydrogen sulfide, sulfuric acid mist and fluorides.

The proposed, more stringent standards would apply throughout the state, including those areas designated as federal air quality controlled regions. The main targets would be industrial plants and business establishments. The proposals will be given public attention at four hearings scheduled for next month. They will begin Nov. 17 in Buffalo and continue over the next seven days in New York City, Albany and Ticonderoga.

What Diamond proposes is to amend present air pollution control rules and add a new section. Once the standards took effect, the emission of contaminants would have to be kept within specified maximums. This could mean notifying a company that it has to control its emissions so as not to exceed the standard of air quality for its area.

In addition, the proposal says that, regardless of specific standards, "emissions of odorous, toxic or deleterious substance in concentrations of such duration that will affect human health or well-being, or unreasonably interfere with the enjoyment of property, or unreasonably and adversely affect plant or animal life shall not be permitted."

Buffalo Cop Stabbed, But Kills Suspect

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI) — A young Buffalo patrolman was stabbed early today and then managed to shoot to death one of his suspected assailants near a stationhouse on the east side. The officer, Salvatore Coniglio, 27, was taken to Deaconess Hospital where he underwent surgery and was listed in "fairly good condition." Coniglio was stabbed once in the chest and once in the stomach, a hospital spokesman said.

Asst. Chief Daniel Pascale of the police detective bureau said "One suspect is in custody and the other one was shot dead." The incident took place on a street "round the corner" from the precinct 12 stationhouse, Pascale said.

It was the third time in ten days that a Buffalo policeman has been involved in a fatal shooting. On Oct. 7, a man being escorted to Meyer Memorial Hospital for observation grabbed an officer's gun and opened fire. He killed one policeman and wounded another before he was shot to death.

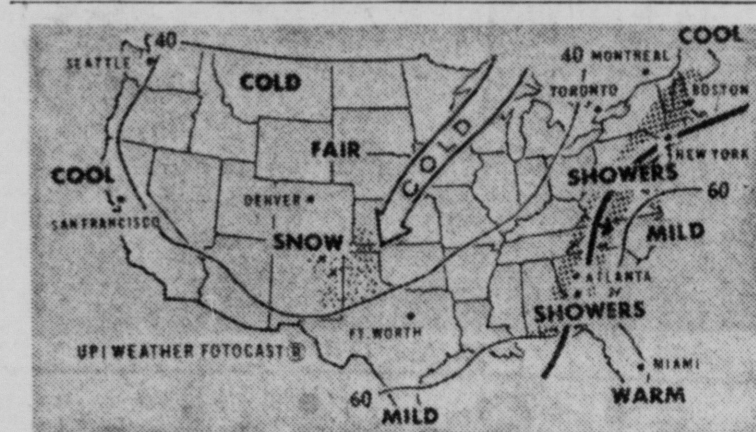

Patrolman Joseph O'Neil, 56, was killed in that incident and Patrolman Edward Young, 62, was wounded. Their assailant, Elijah Williams, 33, was killed by Young. The day before the hospital incident, Buffalo Patrolman J. D. McDonald, 25, of Kenmore, was shot to death in a "quick draw" contest with a fellow officer.

Nixon Eyes Favored Dems

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's determination to unseat prominent Senate doves has led him to go beyond toss-up races and risk his prestige by campaigning against heavily favored Senate Democrats on their home grounds. High on the list are Sens. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Stuart Symington, D-Mo. Both are strongly favored to win re-election but Nixon has scheduled visits to both their states in hopes of engineering upset Republican victories.

The President has not only decided to fight the Wisconsin odds by appearing in Green Bay this Saturday in behalf of Republican Senate candidate John Erickson, but also has given Erickson a well-publicized role in a White House worship service Sunday. The former Wisconsin basketball coach, a board member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, will lead the prayer.

Monday Nixon has scheduled an appearance and overnight stay in Kansas City, Mo., to boost the underdog campaign of Republican John Danforth, the Missouri attorney general who is opposing Symington. Several published reports have said Republicans plan little aid for the GOP opponent of Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., who has generally backed Nixon's defense policies, and there is no indication the President plans to campaign against Jackson.

Tonight, showers are likely to break out across many of the Atlantic coastal states and in parts of the lower Plains. Snow is expected in the higher elevations of New Mexico. Elsewhere, fair to partly cloudy skies should prevail. Cooler air is scheduled to move across the North central states. Minimum temperatures include: Atlanta 57, Boston 51, Chicago 31, Denver 35, Duluth 27, Ft. Worth 48, Jacksonville 64, Kansas City 35, Los Angeles 60, Miami 73, New Orleans 61, New York 56, San Francisco 50, Seattle 44, St. Louis 36 and Washington 56 degrees.

Rochester Bombings... Car, Grad Involved

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — An abandoned automobile and a graduate of a nearby college have become involved in the investigation into Monday's bombings of six buildings in Rochester, according to the city's two newspapers. The graduate, a man who attended the Brockport State College, is being sought by authorities in connection with the explosions, the Rochester Times-Union said Wednesday.

The paper said the man had been linked to bombings in California and was in Brockport last week. An auto with California license plates was seen near a construction truck in Brockport from which 89 sticks of dynamite were stolen. The Rochester Democrat and Chronicle said a car with California license plates was found near Albany Tuesday night and police were studying it for clues. Authorities had not identified it as the car seen in Brockport, however.

Barthel Scores State On Several Points

By JON POWERS

WOODSTOCK — George Barthel, urging abolition of the private property school tax and contending that the state should foot the entire bill for education, Wednesday night received favorable support from a sparse gathering of Woodstock taxpayers.

The Democrat-Liberal State Assembly candidate is seeking to unseat incumbent Republican-Conservative H. Clark Bell. Although Barthel had little to say about his opponent, he did score the current State Legislature and spoke at length on pollution, narcotics and taxes.

Barthel's comments on school taxes were prompted, in part, by Walter Schulman, president of the Woodstock Town Taxpayers Association. The county legislator from Ellenville maintained that "all school aid should come from the state," and that, "we should do it as soon as possible." He later agreed with Schulman's statement that "a measure of home rule in education should be retained by the school board."

While advocating lower taxes, Barthel also had sharp criticism for state spending programs. He stated that only one-twelfth of the $1 billion allocated for the Pure Waters Act has been spent thus far and that, instead, priority has been given to the $1.3 billion Albany Mall construction. By the time the four government buildings in the Mall are completed, claimed Barthel, it will cost state taxpayers $41,900 for every employee sitting at a desk in those buildings. Barthel further contended that the money poured into the capital city project "could have built one $5 million new school in every county in New York State."

On narcotics, Barthel again cited the state for failing to come up with a workable program. He claimed that 97.5 per cent of all the people who went through the state rehabilitation program were "back on the streets 18 months after the program."

In urging immediate action to reduce drug flow, Barthel even suggested severing relations with France, a major source of narcotics, in order to cut down on illegal traffic.

As an alternative to existing programs, Barthel urged more community involvement and increased state support for private programs, such as Project Renaissance in Ellenville. He also urged establishment of more "storefront centers" and suggested that the drug problem be handled with "firmness" and "compassion."

Barthel also had some thoughts on assessment reform bills in Albany, again criticizing the state and the legislature for mandating a tax map for each county and then allocating one dollar in state aid for each parcel of land surveyed. He claimed, further, that it will cost the county between $8-$12 to map each parcel of land.

In suggesting ways that the state could save money, and reduce resulting taxes, Barthel called for re-evaluation of a system that pays State Lottery Commission workers an estimated $4 million a year and even supports a statewide Bingo Commission.

Barthel cited an "inconsistent legislature" as his reason for running for Bell's assembly seat. He noted that Albany lawmakers cut all state aid by five per cent last year and then tried to restore the cut this past session.

In prefacing his remarks to the Woodstock gathering, Barthel said that an assemblyman should be a man who "stands, fights and campaigns for what he believes, and then sees that it becomes a reality."

Crime Infiltration Must Be Halted: Bell

KINGSTON

Putting a stop to the infiltration of organized crime in the state must receive high priority, according to Assemblyman H. Clark Bell, who said he supported the hardline on crime put forth by the Republican-controlled Legislature during the past two years.

"The fight against crime requires effective laws, efficient administrative machinery, trained personnel and modern equipment," Assemblyman Bell said. "We must be assured that the state and its localities will have these essential tools."

Assemblyman Bell said he favored the establishment of the Statewide Organized Crime Task Force within the Department of Law.

The Task Force, headed by a statewide prosecutor with the rank of deputy attorney general, is the first permanent unit within the attorney general's office that will have the power both to investigate and prosecute organized crime.

"In addition," Bell said, "many existing institutions were given expanded powers to join in the battle." Among newly enacted provisions were:

Expanded operations for the New York State Identification and Intelligence System, to provide information to law enforcement agencies for the swift identification of criminals;

Reorganization of the State Police, doubling the manpower and improving the training programs;

Construction of the State Police Academy in Albany, which received its first trainees this year;

Extended powers for the Waterfront and Airport Commission of New York and New Jersey, to fight crime on the waterfront.

OPEN DEM HEADQUARTERS — Ribbon cutting ceremonies Wednesday opened the Town of Esopus Democratic headquarters on Doris Street, off Broadway at Port Ewen. PORT EWEN — Richard Sickler, Democratic and Conservative candidate for councilman of the Town of Esopus, today announced the appointment of J. Wilson Tinney and F. David Lewis as co-chairmen of "Republicans for Esopus School Board."

Tinney has been commander of Post 1298 American Legion; Lewis, a resident of the Town of Esopus for 11 years, is a member of the West Park Club; chairman of State Council of Governors, Lions International; chairman of the Administrative Board of Port Ewen Methodist Church; county chairman of the Cancer Citizens of the Town of Esopus, and a member of Port Ewen School Board. If Cherry Crisp smells so good baking in the oven, can you imagine how good it must taste?

You know, the great thing about Thank You brand Zip Quick Cherry Crisp is not so much that it's easy to make.

And that you simply empty the fruit into a deep dish. Sprinkle on the sugary, crumbly topping.

And bake. (About 30 minutes is all it takes).

No, the great thing about it is the smell.

The cinnamon, scrumptious, mouth-watering smell that goes wafting through the kitchen and all through the house while it's baking.

Now we ask you, if Thank You brand Cherry Crisp (or Apple, Blueberry or Peach) smells as good as all that, just think how good it must taste.

Thank You

Barthel... County Sportsmen Need More Representation

ELLENVILLE — "I will watch closely the re-codification of this department to see that conservationists and sportsmen get a more active role in environmental planning," George Barthel, candidate for Assembly, said today that there is one group of conservationists, the sportsmen of Ulster County, who have not had the Albany representation they deserve.

"When the new Environmental Conservation Department was formed this year, the voices of conservationists and sportsmen were not heard in the hurriedly planned department formation. There was improper notification and hearings," Barthel said.

Indians to Provide Music For Ulster GOP Opening

TOWN OF ULSTER day, Oct. 16, at 7:30 p.m. Music by the Troop 12 Indians Drum and Bugle Corps will herald the ribbon cutting ceremonies celebrating the opening of the Town of Ulster Republican headquarters, Friday, Oct. 17, at 8:00 a.m. The headquarters are located at Albany Avenue Ext. next to Robert Hall Clothiers and opposite Stewart's Ice Cream store, announced Edgar P. Elliott, highway superintendent and chairman of the headquarters committee. It will remain open until after election day and will be manned by volunteer club members.

Two More Chairmen For Buckley Drive

The Ulster County Republicans for Buckley drive to elect James L. Buckley to the U.S. Senate gained with the appointment of two additional chairmen at their recent meeting at the Gov. Clinton Hotel, Kingston.

Mrs. Frances B. Everts of Saugerties was named campaign manager and co-ordinator, and Mrs. Evelyn L. Corsones of Kingston was named chairman of staffing headquarters.

Mrs. Everts was publicity chairman covering James L. Buckley's appearances in Kingston both in 1968 and last month. Mrs. Corsones is a member of the Republicans for Buckley board of directors.

The Republicans for Buckley Committee Headquarters is located at the Gov. Clinton Hotel, Room 120, and is being staffed daily from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Lenefsky Chides Rolison About Drug Statement

KINGSTON — David Lenefsky, candidate for the State Senate, today sharply criticized his opponent Jay P. Rolison for making "an imprecise and sloppily drafted campaign statement on the crucial subject of controlling drugs. My opponent's statement issued last Saturday never even touched on the two most important problems concerning the drug epidemic in Dutchess and Ulster Counties," declared Lenefsky. "These two problems are, first, the fact that we have not yet effectively educated all our young children about the dangers of drugs; and secondly, the fact that all police departments in Ulster and Dutchess Counties are presently understaffed, and consequently our law enforcement resources are limited in their efforts to make arrests of narcotics suppliers."

Lenefsky said he hopes "citizens of Dutchess and Ulster had the opportunity to carefully read my opponent's so-called drug platform so they can evaluate the dull and unimaginative leadership our State Senator is providing."

"My opponent's first proposal called for Albany to mobilize public opinion in New York State to impress the Federal Government with the need to stop importation of drugs. Of course we must stop the importation of drugs," said Lenefsky. "But that is just stating the obvious. And doesn't my opponent know," asked Lenefsky, "that the Nixon Administration has had agents in France and Turkey for over a year working with these Governments to stop drug importation? And since when is my opponent so concerned about public opinion? He doesn't know a thing about public opinion in Ulster County because he is hardly in Ulster. His major activity in Dutchess is his law practice—so he might know something about the public opinion of his law clients," declared Lenefsky. "But certainly not about his constituents in Dutchess."

"My opponent's second proposal called for eliminating the difference between penalties for those in possession or selling eight and 16 ounces of hard narcotics. That proposal is a real stroke of legal genius," declared Lenefsky, "considering so many other people have previously made the same suggestion."

"His third suggestion was for a special narcotics court, particularly in New York City. What he fails to recognize is that we need special narcotics policemen in Dutchess and Ulster Counties, so we can arrest the drug suppliers and bring them to a special narcotics court."

Nirenberg Scores Drug 'Solutions'

NEW PALTZ — "The recommendation to combat the narcotic problem as released by my opponent early this week finally bears out what I have been trying to get across to the people of Ulster County these past six months. That is, that I am fighting an incompetent and inept opponent who is depending on a blind allegiance from the many Republican voters in Ulster County," charged Max Nirenberg, Democratic candidate for district attorney.

Nirenberg stated "Vogt's (Francis R. Vogt) first 'solution' is mandatory sentences for those convicted of selling drugs. Yet, he is the man who let 108 out of 115 charged with sale of drugs 'beat the rap' in the last six years he was in charge. He has yet to point out one discrepancy in my documented figures."

"His second point is that our drug problem 'is due in great part to the change in law resulting from a Supreme Court decision in 1961 ...'. This merely attempts to add insult to the injury the people in Ulster have suffered. Does he think that the people are morons to believe this hogwash, for surely he does not believe it himself," continued the criminal lawyer.

"Here is a man, who while he is having the Grand Jury investigate card games in the City of Kingston, is making deals with the drug pushers

Lloyd GOP Meets Tonight

LLOYD — Town of Lloyd Republicans will hold a campaign meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at Republican Headquarters, 35 Main Street, Highland.

E. J. Gona, campaign chairman, in urging all Republicans to attend, said the meeting would deal with voter contacts. As in the past, Gona, whose committee has announced support of James L. Buckley for U.S. Senate, also stressed the importance of returning Hamilton Fish Jr. to Congress, Nelson A. Rockefeller to the governorship and reelecting State Sen. Jay P. Rolison, and Assemblyman H. Clark Bell.

Faculty Politicizing

It has been mentioned casually in passing, but discussion of the student revolts across the country have not made enough of the role of the politicizing by faculty members. California, with its myriad state colleges and public university members, has taken cognizance of the faculty role and has sternly warned faculty members to desist from playing politics on university time.

Charles J. Hitch, California University president, has told the regents that he was making it "explicitly clear to all members of the university community that their personal political activities are not university business and therefore may not be supported either directly or indirectly by university resources." At the same time, he said that each chancellor of the nine university campuses would have to use his good judgment in "a large gray area where the definition of political is fuzzy."

Jeff Bostic, student-body president at Berkeley, said restrictions designed to hold in check the amount of politicizing done by faculty and students could prevent social-reform efforts because such efforts are "political." Students won the right to campaign politically in designated areas on campus during the Berkeley free speech movement in 1964 and the 19 state college campuses allow politicizing in designated areas on their campuses.

Faculty members who politicize have been favorable to radicals, but they are beginning to express second thoughts about violence. They see that violence and bombing is a dead end that students get "turned off" by destructive acts. The majority of students still are constructive.

Leftist faculty members should seriously ponder the death of Robert Fasnacht, a young Wisconsin University teacher, and the serious injury of a graduate student from a radical bomb; also the destruction of years of research. They must realize that, "Those who sow a storm shall reap a whirlwind."

Productive Wiretaps

Electronic surveillance—wiretapping—has been the Justice Department's best weapon in its fight on organized crime. Attorney General John N. Mitchell acknowledged that his predecessor, Ramsey Clark, had not used the authority granted by Congress in 1968; but President Nixon is committed to use every legal weapon against organized crime, and it has been used.

During the first 18 months of the Nixon administration, wiretaps were used 133 times. They resulted in 419 arrests and 325 indictments. Four fifths of the intercepted messages contained incriminating evidence, showing that the wiretaps were not fishing expeditions. They were based on justifiable grounds.

The 1968 law under which wiretaps were made require a court order from a judge, specifying the types of conversations to be heard. The time of surveillance is limited and wiretaps are ended when their objective has been achieved.

President Nixon has asked that wiretaps be permitted in campus bombing cases. The results so far would seem to justify this extension. Wiretaps have not invaded the privacy of the American people, as had been feared. They are helping only to fight organized crime.

David Lawrence Says Soviet Denies Building Military Base on Cuba

WASHINGTON — When is a "military base" not a "military base" but just a place at foreign ports where submarines can be refueled and pick up missiles and other supplies? The Soviet government in a formal statement has clarified its own policy in Cuba, and evidently feels it doesn't need a "base" in a military sense at all. It just has to have a friendly nation with a port.

After asserting explicitly that it "has not built and is not building" a military base in Cuba, the Moscow government officially explains its position as follows: "As for the use of the world ocean, the Soviet Union strictly adheres to operating principles and rules of contemporary international law. If Soviet ships and vessels enter ports of foreign states, including ports of the Republic of Cuba, on official visits and business calls, they do so with the permission of the governments of the states concerned. It is obvious that such calls are an inalienable right of sovereign states, universally recognized and confirmed by many centuries of international practice."

About all this means is that the Soviets say they are not building up a special base in Cuba, but have arranged to drop in at ports on the island to get necessary supplies and services for their submarines, which are obviously going to be stationed close to the United States for a long time.

It would not be surprising, however, if the Soviet Union raises the question of "military" bases established by one nation on the territory of another. Its statement says:

"It is well known that the Soviet Union, in general, condemns the building of military bases by some states on the territory of other states. More, the Soviet government has repeatedly made specific proposals at relevant U.N. agencies and the Disarmament Committee for the dismantling of foreign military bases on alien territories."

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird evidently has anticipated the possibility that this subject would be brought up. In a news conference a few days ago he pointed out, in reply to a question, that American bases in Europe were in existence when the United States and the Soviet Union began their strategic arms-limitation talks. He added that if the Russians now were to build a submarine base in Cuba, it would change the entire balance while the talks are in progress. He said:

"A change in balance at this time would have to be considered as a very serious act as far as any defense planner is concerned in the United States."

The Soviets want to make it clear that they are not "building" any military "base" in Cuba. But the fact remains they are insisting they have a right to use any port on the island for supplies which can be stockpiled anywhere and delivered to given ports for use aboard Soviet submarines. No new "base" would actually have to be "constructed."

Secretary Laird has said that he has no evidence that the polaris-type submarines of the Soviets — which, of course, use nuclear missiles — have thus far utilized any port in Cuba. He would, however, look upon the use by the Soviets of Cuban bases for polaris-type submarines "as a very serious challenge" and one which doesn't follow the understandings that he believes were comprehended by both the United States and Russia in 1962 at the time of the Cuban missiles crisis.

The Moscow government feels that building a new "base" would be the real issue, and says:

"The Soviet Union has not built and is not building a military base on Cuba and is not doing anything that would contradict the understanding reached between the governments of the U.S.S.R. and the United States in 1962."

So it seems probable that the whole question of military bases will be up for discussion in the talks about the limitation of strategic armaments. Since the Soviet argument is that any of its ships can enter ports of a nation which gives its permission, the United States can make the same point, for instance, about the use of "bases" in Spain, Italy and Greece which have been established in the Mediterranean as a part of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's program to defend Western Europe.

With the friendliness of the new regime in Chile toward Russia and the presence of a Communist government in Cuba, the assumption here is that the Soviets will be better able to maintain polaris-type submarines in both the Atlantic and the Pacific as a threat to the United States.

Rocky Vibrant on Vote Trail May Be Best U. S. Campaigner

By BRUCE BLOSSAT NEW YORK (NEA) — At 61, bidding for his fourth term, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller may be just about the best campaigner in the United States.

He has been running either for governor or president virtually every two years since 1958, but he's still energetic, zesty, unflappable when the boogie is rough, capable of turning a dry text almost into a comic strip.

If he beats his unmagmatic but still potent Democratic adversary, Arthur Goldberg, the reasons will be many. None will be more important than the fact that Rocky hasn't lost the ability to draw a crowd on a street walk (even in Democratic Brooklyn) or charge a room with electricity as I saw him do this summer at the governor's conference.

At a Staten Island party fund-raiser, the governor was praising State Sen. John Marchi, the man who tried in 1969 to beat Mayor John Lindsay, as "philosophical, perceptive, aware." People in the audience smiled as if to ask, "What's that got to do with you, Rocky?" He responded:

"No, it's true. I like that stuff. There are too many of us who are down there — I won't say in the mud, but in the grass."

He dealt buoyantly with his own gaffes, like declaring that Democratic Comptroller Arthur Levitt is "in like Flynn." Grinning, he said:

"I can't say things like that any more. The press is here. I got in trouble on that one."

Mindful of his critics' harping on the difficulties of the now state-owned Long Island Railroad, the governor chopped right back:

"If we hadn't bought that line six years ago, it would be out of existence and most of those guys would be walking. Or they'd be driving their cars on 26-lane highways, and, if they came into Manhattan, John Lindsay would be towing them all away, anyway."

Only moments before, Rocky at a headquarters opening had refused to be thrown by catcalls from a group of crudely discourteous students. He plunged on, pausing now and again to say to them:

"I'll come to your problem in a minute. I'm telling YOU — you can talk afterward. Quiet down and put those signs down, so people behind you can see."

Nobody knows better than Rockefeller that this is a tough race, what with Goldberg's inevitably strong grasp on New York's big Jewish vote and the pull on the blacks exerted by black State Sen. Basil Paterson, Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor.

Yet the governor still has some things going for him in the city, where in the past he ran steadily better even as his upstate margin dropped off. He has more labor endorsements than ever and should grab a lot of Italian, Irish and other conservative ethnic votes. He may do very well with the Puerto Ricans, who resent the Paterson nomination as neglectful of them. A Puerto Rican Democrat, serving in the state legislature from the Bronx, is out for Rocky.

Few have noticed, too, that registration in the city is off by perhaps 250,000, which probably will hurt Goldberg more than Rocky.

Where the governor has the best chance to make it, however, is upstate. In 1958 he came to the city line with a margin of 882,000. By 1966, that edge was down to 481,000.

But this time the upstate and New York City suburban conservatives aren't mad at him and don't fear him any more as a presidential prospect. Moreover, he's got his own cadres, canvassing like crazy and is pulling on the old patronage lever with full force. He has learned toughness.

It hardly needs to be said that, as usual, Rockefeller's campaign is lavishly financed, superbly staffed, expertly geared to television. Put all that together with his in-credibly good luck and his still-winking electricity and you've given the formidable Goldberg a huge worry.

Jack Anderson Says

Justice Department Uses Kid-Gloves on Black Panthers

WASHINGTON — Despite all the teeth-gnashing over police persecution, the Black Panthers have received kid-gloves treatment from the Justice Department.

Government files contain stark evidence that the Panthers are engaged in guerrilla warfare in this country, that they are responsible for snipings, ambushes, bombings and burnings.

Yet the federal prosecutors have taken care not to use the criminal statutes against the Panthers without clear-cut evidence. Instructions have been passed down that prosecutors must make "a better case" against a Panther than a non-Panther to avoid charges of persecution.

The best evidence of the Panthers' guerrilla activities has been compiled from their own statements. The latest is a recording of a broadcast that their propaganda minister, Eldridge Cleaver, made last month over radio Hanoi.

Explaining he was on a tour of Communist Asia with a U.S. anti-imperialist delegation, including two Black Panthers, Cleaver declared in a broadcast beamed to American forces in Vietnam:

"You should know, if you don't know that there's a war going on inside Babylon, inside the United States of America. Not a day goes by now that you can't hear about some pig getting knocked by a brother or some brother or sister getting knocked by a pig, because our black people have risen up throughout the United States. We're trying to put together a black army so that we can take our freedom from these pigs."

"Instead of stumbling around down there until you get ripped off — and these cats will rip you off — you should desert. If you don't want to do it, you should start ripping off those Uncle Toms and those pigs who are giving you orders to kill the Vietnamese people."

"You should start blowing them away, throwing hand grenades at them and put that dynamite under their houses, under their jeeps, and rip off General Abrams (Gen. Creighton Abrams, the American Commander). Do something to let the people know that the revolutionaries in the armed forces want this war brought to an end . . .

"All power to the people and revolutionary power to the soldiers. American soldiers in Vietnam who should be in the United States killing . . . like Richard Nixon, Spiro Agnew and all other warmongers and dogs."

Moss Advises Rival

Utah's Senator Frank Moss received an invitation the other day to serve on the "Utah Advisory Council" of his Republican challenger, Congressman Larry Burton.

"I think the advice from someone like yourself would be very helpful," wrote Burton.

In agreement, Senator Moss is now preparing the solicited advice. He will suggest that all Utah voters cast their ballots for Moss in November.

It turned out that Burton mailed computerized letters to more than 50,000 Utah voters inviting them to serve on his Utah advisory council. Burton also invited the American Independent Party candidate, Clyde Freeman, running on the Wallace ticket, to join the advisory council.

Indeed, if half of the invitations are accepted, it would take the University of Utah stadium to convene a meeting of Burton's advisory council.

A separate batch of letters went out soliciting funds from such unlikely contributors as Moss's aides, Grant Midgely and Virginia Rishel.

Footnote: The funds to pay for such campaign gimmicks as the computerized letters were raised in large part outside Utah. For example, Kennecott Copper Corporation's C.D. "Big Mike" Michaelson, president of the firm's metal mining division, hosted a party for Burton in the Palatial Pinnacle Club in New York City. Those who attended the reception in Mobil Oil's soaring skyscraper paid $100 a head for the privilege. They included both mining and tobacco executives, according to those present. But Michaelson said he saw no tobacco men, because he had concentrated on getting "the mining crowd" to turn out.

Youth Invasion

This column recently issued a challenge to young people to work within the system for change. The letters we got were heartwarming. A story from the tornado-stricken town of Shawnee, Okla., however, speaks more eloquently of America's best hopes for youth than any columns or letters can do.

The tornado struck Shawnee at 4:45 p.m., killing four persons, sending 80 in anguish to the hospital. By 5 p.m., the town was a litter barrel of glass, masonry, trees and trash.

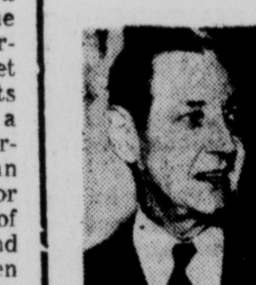

As the older citizens stood by looking helplessly at what the disaster had done, a truck roared into town loaded with young people. Many of them were bearded and long-haired, dressed in hippie garb. Others poured in, some as neatly dressed as choir boys.

Almost without a word, the young people, who had rushed in uninvited from Oklahoma Baptist College and St. Gregory's Junior College, fell to on the rubbish. Using shovels, hoes, even their hands, they loaded tons of refuse into the trucks. The townspeople joined in, side by side with the youngsters.

All night long, the youths, some just entering their teens, from Shawnee High School, labored in the streets and yards of Little Shawnee. Housewives and the Red Cross ran coffee and snacks to them as they worked.

By daylight, Shawnee was still shattered, but the debris was stacked in neat piles or hauled from town. More than a thousand youngsters had taken part in the clean-up.

Said one widow: "I'll never again criticize a student just because he's got long hair and a beard. They swarmed in here and cleaned up the entire mess around our house."

Henry J. Taylor Says

Battle Against Inflation

Behind the scenes important bankers are asking: "Is the battle against inflation lost?"

They hope not; they say the battle still can be won — but they are worried. And the economists? Every year for 10 years the chief economists, in consensus, have underestimated the economy.

They forecast three recessions which did not occur, and when two did occur they did not forecast them.

When this column stated four months ago that, unrevealed, "the government has made a fundamental change in monetary policy. Make no mistake about that," the Federal Reserve later indicated that it was increasing the money supply at the seasonally adjusted rate of 9 per cent.

Monetary policy is not the be-all, end-all of economic policy, but able Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur F. Burns once told me: "It is necessary to plan for what might be possible, not just for what we hope would be probable." And he privately used the word "chaos" to describe what was at stake and must be avoided.

Now modified to about 5 per cent, the basic decision involving the 9 per cent increases more than doubled the 4 per cent applied in the 1966 recession.

Fundamentally, this means that the government decided that inflation, governed as much as possible, is the lesser alternative to financial chaos and a recession which could get out of hand.

As of January, corporate bond rates had climbed from 6 per cent to 9 per cent in three years — a 50 per cent increase, or about 17 per cent a year. Percentage losses in the value of bonds — the workhorses of the economy and supposedly less risky than stocks — had grown to exceed even the shattering losses in stocks. On May 21 the Ohio Edison Company raised $45 million with a 9.05 per cent bond, the most costly Triple-A rated issue in the electric utility industry's entire history.

Even today, with the money-supply policy reversal, the individuals and corporations wanting cash are still chasing those who are sleeping on it or, whatever the circumstances, have it.

Signs of weakening in machine-tool orders tend to lead capital spending declines by about six to nine months. But the Commerce Department is estimating that 1970 capital expenditures will exceed 1969 by about 11 per cent. In the battle against inflation there has been no letup whatever in business's drive to make up for higher and higher labor costs by capital investment in tools and equipment.

The Commerce Department reports that union workers' wage rate increases covered by major 1970 contracts are averaging 17 per cent more than last year's increases. Yet the productivity gap, the output per employed man per hour, grows steadily worse. The rate of increase, which is fundamental in the battle against inflation, has fallen again this year and is lower than it was in 1961 or any year since.

Meanwhile, the latest demand for money is still growing faster than the supply. There is an immense backlog of stock, bond, etc., issues awaiting registration with the Securities and Exchange Commission as interest rates ease. Thus the demand for money will clearly continue in spite of an apparent softening in the interest rates. In fact, even this softening itself may be temporary.

In addition, and without Congress' superimposed expenditures, the so-called budget surplus involved leaving out the cost of the Export-Import Bank, the vast Commodity Credit Corporation, the Federal Home Loan borrowings, etc. These and other realities included, we'd show probably an $8 billion budget deficit instead of a $7 billion surplus.

What all this really means is that the government has found itself forced to accept an inflation of about 4 per cent a year. It has now, in fact, formalized this as the goal by which inflation is to be governed as much as possible.

There are two confessions in this. First, that there is to be, after all, inflation. Even the 4 per cent annual goal adds up mightily — a 20 per cent loss in the dollar's purchasing power within only five years. Second, when a government establishes such a goal the pressures have a way of forcing that goal to be exceeded.

In Washington this secret is as tightly held as a family indiscretion, but if the facts mean anything the battle against inflation, as of now, is on the ropes.

Dental Society Elects Goldfarb

A Kingston man has been named president, and two Ulster County residents are among eight dentists voted into membership in the Third District Dental Society, it was announced by Dr. Herbert G. Spieske of Albany, secretary of the organization covering seven Eastern New York counties.

They are: Dr. Lewis R. Morrison, Dr. Andrew T. Wood, Dr. Alvin F. DeSiena and Dr. Paul Troide, all of Albany although Dr. Troide practices in Amsterdam; Dr. Ned M. Goldfarb of Kingston, Dr. Bruce D. Jones of Hoosick Falls, Dr. Michael J. Shaughnessy of Troy and Dr. Arthur Wolff of Saugerties.

The Third District has designated Dr. Saul Goldfarb of Kingston, the president-elect, and Dr. Spieske as delegates to the American Dental Association in Las Vegas, Nov. 8 to 12, with Dr. Jeremiah Sachs of Kingston and Dr. Edwin Smith of Albany as alternates.

Third District dentists will meet in Hudson, Nov. 4, when Dr. Herbert Hoffstein of New York City will lecture on "Pathological entities seen at a New York hospital." Dr. Joseph M. Sullivan of Troy is president of the district.

'Wish Book' At Sears

CHICAGO A Christmas "Wish Book" brimming with 16,000 gift ideas is being distributed by Sears, Roebuck and Co. to 13 million families across the nation.

This year's Christmas catalog represents an effort to retain the traditional "wish" flavor of the book while showing consideration for consumer emphasis on economy. Prices have been cut on more than 225 items, 100 of them toys. The catalog's toys—accounting for 175 of the 608 pages—may be purchased through July 30, 1971.

Among the new items in the catalog are the Kenmore Compactor, which compresses a week's trash for a family of four into a single disposable bag; a complete line of home fashions based on the Dr. Seuss stories about the "Cat in the Hat," and a nine-item toy collection centered around "Gramma," a new concept in dolls.

RECEIVES HONORS — Life insurance specialist Charles Denkensohn (R) representative of Mutual of New York in Kingston, was honored by top company officials during a career conference of sales leaders in New York City recently. Denkensohn qualified to attend the conference on the basis of sales performance and service to policyholders. He currently ranks in the top 25 per cent of MONY's 4,500 man-national field force. During the three-day career conference, Denkensohn met with MONY senior vice president Howard Barnhill, CLU, and executives from the company's sales and underwriting departments. He is associated with MONY's Poughkeepsie agency, located at 51 Cannon Street.

Mrs. Warrington Heads Plaza Bank

KINGSTON John W. Kelly, president of The State of New York National Bank, has announced the appointment of Mrs. Lillian K. Warrington as manager of the bank's Kingston Plaza Office in the Kingston Shopping Plaza.

A native of Woodstock, Mrs. Warrington was educated in schools of New Haven, Conn. and at Spencers Business School in Kingston.

She is married to Arthur Warrington and resides at 154 O'Neil Street and the mother of a son, Percy Russell Warrington. They are members of Trinity, Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Warrington has been with The State of New York National Bank since 1956. She was a teller at the main office, 301 Wall Street, and was part of the original staff at the opening of the Albany Avenue Office in 1957 and of the Kingston Plaza Office in 1964. She served as assistant manager of the latter office until her recent promotion.

Rosendale Board . . . Some Old Problems

ROSENDALE: Rosendale Village Board came up with the same old problems at Wednesday night's meeting—alternate side parking and the resignation of the village police chief.

Mayor Carl Grassi reported the Village Board accepted the resignation of Chief Walter R. Byer, with regret. The chief sent his lengthy letter of resignation Oct. 7. The mayor said the board will keep the position open and Police Sgt. George Williams will be in charge of the four-man department.

There was a rather lengthy discussion on the alternate street parking problem opposed by the merchants of Main Street. There was a suggestion that 15 minute parking be permitted on both sides of the street. However, on Oct. 1 the state mandated the alternate side parking and installed signs along Main Street, which is State Highway Route 213.

Mayor Grassi named Trustee Kenneth Smith to meet with a group of the merchants to discuss their needs in regard to the parking situation and report back at the November meeting. Under the new state ruling parking is permitted on Main Street only on the southerly side. It was further reported that the Reformed Church has offered its property for parking use and the trustees decided that this might be the answer if other sites could be found along or adjacent to Main Street.

Mrs. Richard Priest, village treasurer, who was filling in for Village Clerk Nancy Hanrahan, who was ill, said the water ban in the village was still in effect. Residents were advised against any unnecessary use of water.

Rhinebeck Budget Listed, Hearing Slated

RHINEBECK: The proposed 1971 Town of Rhinebeck budget just released will ask for a rate-per-thousand raise of $1.13 over the 1970 budget, or about 20 per cent.

The tax rate, for the town outside the village, is estimated at 6.854 for 1971, up from $5.723 per thousand. The equalization rate in the town is 97 per cent.

The village contributions to town government will be up from $1,626 per thousand to $2,171.

Total budget figures, without special districts, are listed as $248,191.54, up from $191,185.34.

This includes a proposed $111,412.99 in the general fund; $16,631 in the part-town fund; and $120,147.55 in the highway fund.

The amount to be raised by taxes is projected as $169,308.54. This is up from 1970's $134,359.48, or about 25 per cent.

There will be a public hearing on the preliminary budget at 8 p.m., Oct. 29 at the Town Hall. Some new classifications in the general fund include $3,480 for community beautification; $1,000 for a town engineer; and $7,420 allocated for town garage, formerly under Town Hall.

Employees' benefits have increased, and elected officials will receive increases in salaries and expenses averaging $500 per person.

Zoning expenses and constable expenses are present for the first time in the part-town fund. An $11,000 increase in road repairs and improvements in the highway fund accounts for much of its increase.

Dogs, Bridge Are Discussed

MARBLETOWN: Discussion of a possible dog ordinance and the establishment of a bridge over Fording Place Road where it crosses the Esopus Creek were undertaken by members of the Marbletown Town Board meeting Wednesday night.

Supervisor Kenneth D. Smith said the dog ordinance is needed but that the budget, at the present time, does not allow for a dog warden to enforce the law. Smith said he has had many complaints from residents concerning dogs and that something will soon be done to correct the situation.

Regarding the Fording Place Road, it was suggested that improvement of the roadway would enable Lomontville residents to reach the City of Kingston more quickly. Smith said that matters concerning rights of way and land ownership would be investigated before taking any action.

A letter from a number of Lomontville residents asking that the zoning laws be changed to require a minimum of five acres per land parcel, was discussed and the idea was dismissed on the basis that it would be unworkable and discriminatory.

Port Teachers Go on Strike

PORT JERVIS, N.Y. (AP)—Teachers struck today against the six schools in the Port Jervis Central School District, and pickets were posted in the rain.

Robert Hamilton, president of the Board of Education, announced that the schools were open for classes, however, in and near this Southeastern New York city close to the New Jersey state line.

The district has approximately 2,500 pupils and about 160 teachers.

Most of the teachers are reported to be members of the Port Jervis Teachers Association, which voted Wednesday night to go ahead with the previous union-authorized strike.

Negotiations for a new contract had been under way since early this year, and state representatives had joined the talks.

The association president, Walter DeMire, issued the strike call and said the contract talks were deadlocked.

A spokesman for the school board said that supervisory personnel would conduct classes of teachers not in attendance and that the board was prepared to seek a court injunction against the strike.

A salary revision was reported to be the principal issue left unresolved in contract talks attended by negotiators from the State Public Employee Relations Board.

DeMire said he expects most of the district's 162 teachers to participate in the strike.

UNICEF Drive For Cards Set In New Paltz

NEW PALTZ

Planning continues for the 1970 UNICEF Greeting Card Drive in New Paltz, scheduled for Nov. 3, 4 and 5 in area markets and banks, according to recent announcement.

Several organizations have again agreed to assist in the annual card sale, including the New Paltz Art Association, New Paltz Garden Club, Sisterhood of Abavath Achim, the Society of Friends, Jaynees, Reformed Church Guild, Jewish Community Center, Methodist Church Women, St. Joseph's Women's Guild, Ladies Auxiliary of Gardiner, VFW, Senior Citizens, Episcopal Church Women, the AAUW and the Foreign Students of the State University.

A burglary at the Knights of Columbus Building discovered Wednesday afternoon, is under investigation by Officers William McPeck and Kenneth Swart.

Police Chief Gordon Keeley said entry was gained through the rear door and the intruders rifled a cigarette machine and left with the contents and approximately $55.

Meanwhile, Kingston State Police BCI officers continued investigation of a rash of burglaries that were reported in area communities Tuesday night or early Wednesday.

Robbery Charge To Grand Jury

KINGSTON

A second degree robbery charge against 18-year-old Clifford Marshall, 92 Emerick Street, that stemmed from an alleged incident on lower Broadway on the night of Sept. 29, was referred to the Ulster County Grand jury for investigation.

City Judge Hubert A. Richter presided at a preliminary hearing Wednesday during which the complainant, Kenneth Joseph, a maintenance man at City Hall, testified that he was robbed of about $45.

Marshall had previously pleaded innocent to the charge. He was represented by Mrs. Nancy Riseley, attorney, and Miss Ellen G. Donovan, assistant district attorney, appeared for the prosecution.

Burglaries Under Probe By Detectives

KINGSTON

Three house burglaries in the city were under investigation today by city detectives.

Donald DeWitt of 350 South Wall Street, notified police Wednesday at about 4:30 p. m. that his home had been entered by breaking glass in the kitchen door. Missing were several items of jewelry of unknown value, $145 in cash and miscellaneous items, according to Detective Sergeant William Slover.

Mrs. Frances Ackely of 15 Pine Street, reported to authorities at 7 p. m. yesterday that her home had been entered through a rear window and jewelry valued at about $83 was missing.

The third break-in was reported by Holly Bruce of Apt. 113-A, Hillcrest Gardens. Entry was gained through a rear window. Police were told that $15 in cash and identification papers were missing.

Shoplifting Charged to Girl

KINGSTON

A 16-year-old Dutchess County girl was arrested Wednesday night by a security officer at Britts store in the Kingston Shopping Plaza accused of shoplifting merchandise.

Michele Squeo of Pine Plains was charged with taking a set of bottled water coloring valued at $2.95. The girl is scheduled to appear Saturday in City Court to face a charge of petit larceny. The merchandise was recovered by the officer.

Eichler Joins Blood Bank Family

GEORGE W. EICHLER

KINGSTON Eichler of Bearsville has volunteered to recruit members for the newly formed bank in the Woodstock area. To become a member requires simply an initial $2 fee

Rolison Reveals Sharing Figures

ALBANY Democratic-controlled Congress is stalling the proposal. In the first analysis of the impact of the Federal Revenue Sharing Plan which would return $5 billion a year to the state and localities, the Senator revealed that the City of Kingston would be able to chop its taxes by $3.74 per thousand assessed evaluation and in addition Ulster County would be able to cut its taxes by $1.99.

RV School Board Tables A Move on Seniors

STONE RIDGE R. Elston, Minna Manda, who returned from a leave of absence, Middle School vertical team chairmen were also announced as follows: William LeDoux, mathematics; Mrs. Marsha Krom, science; Mrs. Nancy Sack, reading; Richard Murphy, language arts and social studies, grades five and six; Anthony Croitz, language arts and social studies, grades seven and eight; Mrs. Elke Hekler, unified arts; Walter Highland, music; Robert Keagle, social studies.

Board members felt, according to Robert Basten, that they needed more information before taking action in the matter.

In other business, the board accepted the resignations of the following: cafeteria, Ann Jolley, Helen Osborne, Dorothy Schultz, Nellie Wright; clerical, Marilyn DeGraw; custodial, John Garland and Ernest Nelson who retired.

Appointments were made as follows: assistant tax collector, Helen Osterhoudt; cafeteria, Ruth Banta, Mary Evans, Nancy J. Smith; custodial, Francis

One year appointments to extra classroom activities funds for the High School and Middle School included chief faculty advisor, James Vertucci; Middle School, Philip Buongiglio; central treasurer, Gloria Starling in the High School and Mildred Setarano in the Middle School; financial auditor, James Basten in the High School and Middle School.

Since taxpayers in the State of New York are getting back only $.05 on each dollar sent to Washington, Senator Rolison said, "it's important that our taxpayers get behind the revenue sharing proposal now stalled in Congress."

The Nixon proposal would simply return monies to the states and localities without strings attached. New York State would get $314,742,430 which would greatly improve our ability to meet emerging problems and relieve the fiscal stringency facing the State. Unfortunately, the Democratic-controlled Congress is foot-dragging on this proposal, with the view of crushing it."

and annual dues of $1, along with the willingness to donate blood when called upon. Membership offers full protection for the member and his dependents to provide all the whole human blood they may need in an emergency.

The 15th agency of the Ulster County Community Chest, the Ulster County Blood Bank is based upon the sound insurance principle of spreading the total requirement among a large number of members, each furnishing a small proportional share of the total. The aim of this membership drive is to recruit 4,000 people who work or live in Ulster County by November 1 with total benefits to them and their legal dependents scheduled to go into effect 60 days after enrollment.

Members will be called upon to donate blood on a rotation basis, with the present estimate at one pint every 18 months. As the membership grows above the 4,000 member goal, the length of time between calls will grow proportionately. When a member is called he may take one of three available options: to donate the pint of blood, to ask someone to donate in his place or he may elect to pay the current price of a pint of blood, $27.50 in lieu of donating.

The Blood Bank is a non-profit community service offering a people-to-people program. This is where George Eichler comes in. He will ask the people of Woodstock to do something for themselves, their families and their neighbors—to support and join the Ulster County Blood Bank.

Eichler is employed as superintendent of works for the J. W. Construction Company of Port Jervis. He is president of the Carpenters and Joiners of America, Local 251 and a member of Ulster Lodge of Masons 193. In Woodstock, he is the Republican Town Assessor, chairman of the Christmas Eve Program and a member of the Woodstock Fire Company 1 and the Salvation Army.

Originally of Long Island, Eichler and his wife, Elizabeth, have resided on the Wittenberg Road, Bearsville for the past 25 years.

IEEE Will Hear Talk by Acker

POUGHKEEPSIE

Ernest R. Acker, chairman of the Northeast Power Coordinating Council, will be the guest speaker at the Oct. 21 meeting of the Power Chapter, Mid-Hudson Section, of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers. The meeting, which will begin at 7:30 p.m., will be held at the Central Hudson auditorium on South Road in Poughkeepsie.

The Northeast Power Coordinating Council (NPCC) is composed of representatives from 20 electrical utilities and agencies in New York State, New England and Ontario, Canada. NPCC members, which account for about 98 per cent of the electric generating capacity in the Northeast, serve almost 12 million customers in an area of 271,000 square miles.

NPCC is a permanent organization whose main function is to promote maximum reliability and efficiency of electric service through planning and coordination of the interconnected electric systems in the Northeast. With this objective in mind, NPCC gathers information and utilizes computers to analyze and test the generation and transmission plans of Council members, and it also develops criteria which is used in the design and operation of major interconnected systems.

ERNEST R. ACKER

Acker, former president and board chairman of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation, has been associated with the electric utility industry for more than 50 years. In addition to his present responsibilities as senior officer of NPCC, he is president and a director of the Empire State Atomic Development Associates, Inc. He is a former president of the Edison Electric Institute.

He said that in accepting Metropolitan Life's pledge of $2,000 for the 1970-71 Ulster County Community Chest fund drive, he was receiving an amount almost three times last year's pledge. The gift from Metropolitan Life represents the corporate contribution from both the sales office at 280 Wall Street in Kingston and Metropolitan's Record and Service Center on Greenkill Avenue in Kingston.

Triulzi accepted Metropolitan Life's $2,000 gift to the Community Chest from George Devine, manager of the firm's area sales office, and William Egan, manager of Metropolitan's Records and Service Center.

In making the presentation to Triulzi, both local Metropolitan managers pointed out that today's contribution is just the corporate gift from Metropolitan Life, and does not represent individual contributions made by the Metropolitan Life employees at both the sales office and the Hall of Records.

Employee solicitations at both locations will be made later in the campaign and Triulzi was certain that the Metropolitan employees would be as generous this year as they have been in previous Community Chest campaigns.

President Puts Signature on Sweeping Anti Crime Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today signed a sweeping anticrime bill dealing with two major election-year issues—terrorist bombings and underworld syndicates.

One of the bill's provisions calls for the death penalty in fatal bombings, another expands federal power against racket bosses.

Nixon invited Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to witness the signing as part of an effort to underline the importance of what one White House spokesman called "a very major piece of legislation."

But civil liberties organizations didn't share the President's enthusiasm for the bill, not deal with growing street dawn blast Wednesday.

The bill, although aimed at some provisions.

"The bill, although aimed at organized crime, will find its first and most widely used er-deavor against militant groups, Black Panthers and others the to the President before adjourn-administration considers as dis- ing for November's election most college campuses to FBI investigators when bombs go off."

Besides the death penalty, the legislation provides 20-year sen- tences for causing injury through terrorist bombs and ten- years for taking part in bomb- ings.

But most of the legislation deals with curbing organized crime.

The bill gives the government new and expanded powers to combat racketeering and crime syndicates.

Other antimob sections of the legislation beef up procedures that force witnesses to testify, increase protection for wit- nesses in attempts to keep them from being intimidated or killed, ease use in court of evi- dence obtained by wire-tapping and establish special grand ju- ries with powers to probe and report on organized crime activ- ities.

One provision strikes at inter- state gambling operations and as being on the wane by the courts, legislators and the peo- ple, you have the Nixon admin- istration according to the worst fears of the populace.

Speiser said the antiotherized crime provisions were based on erroneous theories disproved the past that if "you free the po- lice from constitutional limi- tations, or make it easier to convict persons, or provide stiff sentences, this will affect the crime rate."

On the antibombing penalties, he said:

"At a time when capital pun- ishment is pretty well accepted

Mao Sticks to Violence Doctrine

Editor's note: The author of this assessment of what Red China is up to in Indochina and the Middle East is a veteran among "China watchers." Stationed in Hong Kong where he is UPI bureau manager, Charles R. Smith has been covering Asian affairs, with emphasis on Red China, since 1957. He was among the first to report on the Chinese "cultural revolution" of the 1960s.

and grasp in their own hands the destiny of their country. This is a law of history."

The coup d'etat in Cambodia last March which led to the establishment of an exile government in Peking by deposed Cambodian head of state Prince Norodom Sihanouk gave China the initiative in the Indochina region so far as the Communist camp was concerned.

This came as China was just getting into her most significant, and successful, diplomatic campaign in more than five years.

The campaign was characterized initially by the return of Chinese ambassadors to many countries whose relations with China had soured during the cultural revolution that Mao launched almost five years ago.

Premier Chou En-lai put the campaign in high gear with a visit to North Korea. Since then, Chou has dispatched a large number of lower level delegations to other parts of Asia, Africa, Europe and the Middle East. At the same time, a steady stream of delegations from these areas has been coming to Peking. These included such disparate groups as a French delegation led by Andre Bettencourt and a Palestinian guerrilla mission headed by Yasser Arafat.

Chou has a briefcase full of invitations to visit countries in Asia, Africa and the Middle East. There are persisting rumors in Peking diplomatic circles that he is preparing to fulfill some of the invitations soon.

Middle East Push

China's foreign policy now appears generally aimed at restoring relations all around and pursuing a more moderate attitude towards the United States.

But the main thrust at the moment is to increase the country's influence in the Middle East.

LIN PIAO AND MAO TSE-TUNG

(UPI Telephoto)

HONG KONG (UPI)—Mao Tse-tung is an apostle of violence who remains unchanged in a changing world.

The 76-year-old Chinese Communist party chairman is more convinced than ever that support of armed revolution—which includes limited wars in today's terminology—is the main means for the advancement of communism and China's influence, even at the risk of a major war.

The turn of events in Indochina and the Middle East, two key areas of Chinese trouble-making, have reinforced Mao's belief that this is the correct way, according to diplomats and China specialists based here and in Peking.

"The danger of a new world war still exists and the people of all countries must be prepared. But revolution is the main trend in the world today," Mao declared in a rare public statement last May.

An Act Of Violence

By continuous urging of others in such places as Indochina and the Middle East to "dare to struggle," and helping them with arms where possible, Mao shows that he still adheres firmly to the doctrine of violence that he advocated in one of the first major articles he ever wrote.

"A revolution is not a dinner party, or writing an essay, or painting a picture, or doing embroidery; it cannot be so refined, so leisurely and gentle, so temperate, kind, courteous, restrained and magnanimous," Mao wrote in 1927. "A revolution is an insurrection, an act of violence ..."

When he wrote that 43 years ago, Mao was speaking of the embryonic revolution he and his Communist comrades were pursuing in China.

Since the success of the revolution, in 1949, Mao has broadened his horizons. He speaks now of world revolution — "wars of liberation," "people's war" and other forms of limited war—with Peking as the center and him as the chief prophet.

Aiming at U.S.

Promoting and supporting such wars against American interests, Mao contends, is the best way to undermine the United States and sap the strength of the country that he considers the main enemy of China and communism.

"People's war is a magic weapon most effective in dealing with U.S. imperialism and its lackeys," Mao says. Such wars waged since the end of World War II, Mao said earlier this year, have put the United States into a position where it is "beset with troubles internally and externally, with utter chaos at home and extreme isolation abroad."

Mao's advocacy of such wars has brought him into sharp conflict with the leaders of the Soviet Union, who have warned that such strategy runs the risk of provoking a wider war that would benefit no one.

Mao says, in effect, so what? "With regard to the question of world war, there are but two possibilities: one is that the war will give rise to revolution and the other is that revolution will prevent the war," Mao asserts.

'Weak Can Defeat Strong'

In his last public statement, entitled, "People of the World, Unite and Defeat the U.S. Aggressors and Their Running Dogs," Mao had this to say:

"In the world of today, who actually fears whom? It is not the Vietnamese people, the Laotian people, the Cambodian people, the Palestinian people, the Arab people or the people of other countries who fear U.S. imperialism; it is U.S. imperialism which fears the people of the world. It becomes panic-stricken at the mere rustle of leaves in the wind."

"Innumerable facts prove that a just cause enjoys abundant support while an unjust cause finds little support. A weak nation can defeat a strong, a small nation can defeat a big. The people of a small country can certainly defeat aggression by a big country, if only they dare to rise in struggle, take up arms

NYU Cancels Classes, Father Gets Refund

NEW YORK (AP) — A judge has awarded the father of a New York University student a partial tuition refund of $277.40 because the school canceled classes for 19 days during campus unrest last May.

Judge Patrick J. Picariello, making the award Wednesday in Small Claims Court to Roger Paynter, a fireman from Queens, declared:

"College administrators have yielded too easily to the demands of campus dissidents and have thereby ushered in an era of physical and intellectual intimidation."

The university, a private institution, said it would appeal the ruling.

Paynter, 49, who said he had been refused a refund when he first approached the university, sued on behalf of his son Raymond, 19, now an art education sophomore. He brought the action on grounds that by failing to provide classes for his son the school violated its contractual obligations.

Paynter commented afterwards: "I'm not out to get NYU. I was only fighting for the principle." He said the decision "could represent a test case . . . After all, thousands of students all over the country were denied classes last year. This could open the floodgates."

The student strike, which affected many campuses in the nation, followed the dispatch of U.S. troops into Cambodia and the shooting of four students during a confrontation with the National Guard at Kent State University.

"If some students want to stay out, that's their prerogative," Paynter said. "But let the other students go to school."

The judge, in a seven-page decision, strongly assailed the disturbances on campuses. He noted that "there was no testimony or other evidence that the plaintiff's son participated . . . in any way in such conduct."

"There can be no substitute for the acceptance of responsibility for order and discipline on campuses by college administrators and college faculties," Picariello asserted.

"This is not accomplished by canceling classes and closing down school facilities."

He termed NYU's defense—based on its giving to each student at the beginning of the school year a bulletin stating that academic programs were subject to change without notice—"too specious to merit any consideration."

Earlier this week in U.S. District Court in Milwaukee, Wis., Judge Myron Gordon dismissed a similar suit brought by nine students against the University of Wisconsin, which remained open during the May disorders.

The students sought tuition refunds and other compensation on grounds that grades had been affected by class interruptions. Gordon ruled that the suit did not sufficiently show that constitutional rights had been deprived.

WOODSTOCK

A 29-year-old Brooklyn man picked a poor spot to hunt bear when he went to the Woodstock town dump on Tuesday.

Kingston State Police reported Joseph Dominick Sabatino was charged with hunting big game without a license and out of season. He was taken before Town Justice Rudolf Baumgarten by Trooper R. M. Houst and Game Protector Albert Roberts of Highland.

Sabatino paid $12.50 in civil compromise, according to State Police Sergeant H. S. Rhodes.

about four people and their curiously desperate struggles for sexual power. The movie captures a feeling between people and nature, that is about as sensuous as anything you've probably ever seen in a film. When Birkin first makes love to Ursula, in the woods, it's a sort of mad scramble of lust. When, however, he and Gerald strip to the buff to wrestle—there is a sense of positive grace in the eroticism. It is such an appealing movie. —New York Times

"Find out who supports and who suppresses educational advancement," he urged, "and remember the significance of giving your support to legislators and political candidates who conscientiously work to improve the schools."

The national observance of AEW serves to increase public understanding and support of the schools, an official commented. This year's theme, "Shape Schools for the 70's" give impetus to local efforts to find ways for more people to become involved and work together in combining resources and programs to give students the best possible preparation for life in today's complex world. Salzmann commented as he noted that American Education Week is sponsored by the National Education Association. Start Construction of Helipad

Material, money, manpower, equipment and time are being donated by various Ulster County businesses and individuals toward the construction of the Benedictine Hospital Helipad being built at the site of the hospital on Mary's Avenue, Kingston, according to Gale Brownlee, chairman of the Helipad Fund.

Blasting of limestone and granite from the helipad location at the rear of the hospital property began last week and is continuing in preparation for the grading and laying of concrete for the 50x50 foot pad.

"I'm thrilled at the wonderful cooperation and response of those who are donating time, material and equipment," said Mrs. Brownlee, who said the fund drive had realized more than $3,000 and for whose grandfather, the late Dr. Mortimer B. Downer of Woodstock, the helipad is being named.

A partial list of those who have donated manpower and material was announced today by Mrs. Brownlee as follows: Jack E. Turk, Rock Construction Corp., and Dunham Tunnel and Excavation Corp., blasting; Jennings Construction, equipment and manpower; Matt Fitzgerald and Robert Riley, Callanan Road Improvement, concrete; Polyphase Inc., George Francis, of Woodstock, lighting and wiring; Earl Baker and Alan Randall of DeRan Construction and Kingston Equipment Rental, grading and equipment; Hudson Valley Chapter 99's, whose members will be doing air markings under the direction of Mojeska Sign Studios with Shapiro Paint Company donating the paint. Also, a plaque donated by Bruce Watson of Bruce Watson Memorials, West Hurley, and photographs by Photo Workshop, Kingston.

Commenting on the helipad, Mrs. Brownlee emphasized that the hospital is building a helipad, not establishing a helipad service. "It is simply providing a place for State Police or emergency vehicles to land when the need arises. We feel in the event of a serious emergency the helipad would be of great service to the community.

"Helicopters have proven invaluable in the delivery of urgently needed vaccines, rare blood or plasma, transplants etc. They are also used to transport medical personnel to where needed and to lift out the sick and injured.

"State Police, police and firemen in other localities have found no other vehicle capable of doing so much, so quickly," she added.

Those persons who did not contribute to the Aug. 1 fund-raising drive for the helipad and who are interested in furthering the project may do so by making checks payable to the Benedictine Hospital Helipad Fund in care of Mrs. Brownlee, Woodstock, or the hospital in Kingston.

BLAST FOR HELIPORT — Benedictine Hospital's new helipad has been under construction during the past week with many businesses and individuals contributing material, manpower and equipment. Pictured are men from Rock Construction Corp. engaged in a blasting operation to remove limestone and granite from the Mary's Avenue location. (Photo Workshop photo).

FALL FESTIVAL FEATURE — Among the houses to be included on the Fall Festival Tours Saturday is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. St. John at 27 Burgevin Street. Practical use of 18th century architecture in 20th century homes is clearly evidenced here. In addition to tours of 12 outstanding uptown Kingston homes and public buildings, the Fall Festival will include special displays, slide lectures and folk singing by Harry Siemen. Festival headquarters will be at Herzog building, 332 Wall Street. Tickets may be obtained at Old Dutch Church where tours start. Hours are 11 a. m. to 4 p. m. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Red Hook Supervisor Explains Reasons Why

The present Town Hall site.

The Board hired architect Richard Crowley about six months ago to draw up plans and compile estimates for expansion. According to this information, and the justified need by the state, the following facilities were deemed necessary:

Adequate room for all Town Justice court cases being held; room for activities of the Planning Board and zoning Board of Appeals; better and larger meeting rooms for visitors to meetings and public hearings; and a new heating system sufficient for the expansion.

The old system is deemed unable to perform adequately, and beyond bringing up to date with repairs.

Simmons mentioned several

The professional master planning firm of Sargent, Webster, Crenshaw and Folley advised the town to relocate the Town Hall and build a new one, using the present one for highway department space.

The board felt, however, that this expansion would be suitable for the next 15 years. An approximate figure of $35,000 for the renovations was given by Crowley.

Steps have been taken to have this brought before the town residents on the ballot for a referendum at the November 3 election.

Simmons said, "With building costs continually rising, it appears our needs should be satisfied now."

The Town Hall will be open Oct. 20 and 21 for any interested persons to view the architectural

'Trick or Treat' Curfew Established in Rhinebeck

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK All persons under 18 years of age will have to be off the streets and roads of the Town of Rhinebeck by 10 p.m. Halloween, according to a resolution adopted by the Town Board Wednesday night.

This will be the first curfew the town has employed. Ironically, the village Board of Rhinebeck Tuesday night dropped its Halloween curfew for the first time in years.

The move came as a result of Supervisor William Allen's urging that something be done to curtail the excessive property damage and mischief experienced in the past.

The curfew was originally aimed primarily at Rhinecliff, but was extended to cover the entire town.

Enforcement in Rhinecliff will be through constables, and specially appointed temporary constables according to Allen. He also expects cooperation from state and county police.

"I believe in trick or treat," said Allen, "but these kids are up to no good after 10 o'clock." Judge DeWitt Gurnell will probably be available to "set court up right in the Rhinecliff firehouse."

It was also decided by the Board to have a fine not to exceed $25 imposed on curfew violators.

A special meeting will be held to define the duties of the constables in relation to Halloween in the near future.

In discussing a zoning variance problem concerning the plight of a Mrs. Flora, Planning Board Chairman Homer K. Staley announced that the land

she purchased from Alfred Goldsmith was "totally unsuitable to contain a house."

Staley asserted, "The Planning Board wants the subdivision law enforced or taken off the books, or you can look for a new Planning board."

Mrs. Flora and her husband, both over 65 and subsisting on Social Security, bought some land with the intention of putting a pre-fab $15,000 house on it on Route 308.

They testified they had spent more than $3,000 more on land-fill, plus various other fees, and that the house was due any time now with no option for refusal.

The problem is, according to Staley, that there is insufficient setback from the road and not enough room for adequate sewerage without polluting the Sawkill to the rear of the site.

A special meeting will be held to determine the outcome of what was described by Mrs. Flora as a "hardship case."

Announce Teenage GOP Unit

SAUGERTIES Flamingo Restaurant. A project for the formation of teenage Republicans was revealed by Town GOP Chairman Donald R. McCaig, who spoke at the recent annual fund-raising dinner-dance of the Town Republican Committee at the Flamingo Restaurant. McCaig said that the Republican Club's president, Henry Breitenbach, was initiating a program of political participation for young people and said state senator, addressed the audience. He reviewed the accomplishments of the progress. He noted such a project would be the first in the area. Henry Curran, a member of the State Harness Racing Commission and former six-term senator, addressed the capacity audience. He reviewed the accomplishments of the Rockefeller administration and mentioned the improved educational advantages including expanded college opportunities and aid to senior citizens. He stressed the governor's fight against crime and drug abuse. County GOP Chairman Albert Spada in his brief talk exhorted the town committee for its good work. All office holders and candidates at the county and town levels were introduced. A telegram was read from Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., who was unable to attend. Both Assemblyman H. Clark Bell and State Senator Jay P. Rolisor were accorded thunderous applause when they were introduced. Joseph Benjamin Jr. served as master of ceremonies. The committee included Paul Pavlovich, chairman; Louis P. Francello, Frank Short, Joseph Bruno, Eugene Davis, Walter Johnson and Freeman Lasher.

Reports were given on the open house event earlier this month. New winter jackets were issued to all members present. Members were reminded of the standard Red Cross first aid course currently underway. All sessions are held at the squad building on Route 209.

Social Studies Unit Contest

BLUE MOUNTAIN Cindy Spring, another tie; the figlio, as all the class witnessed most illustrations on the sub-the presentations. A social studies unit lesson grew into a contest-game in the second grade class of Mrs. Mary Jane Prescott last week. These winners were awarded King, Mrs. Inga Hayes and prizes in their homeroom by Mrs. Anne Giannone in cooperation with Mrs. Prescott. This class in the Grant D. Morse School was studying the basic concept regarding similarities and differences which exist among living things. The children began comparing the differences which exist among the type homes that animals inhabit. To bring this more to life and exciting, they drew large illustrations of animals and their homes. A contest was underway. The children decided on three points of concern in making their illustrations, judges were chosen and in the end the contest results were: Winners for the neatest drawings, Lisa Miller and Cheryl Siso, a tie; the best coloring, John Millett and

WW I Vets Note Help

KINGSTON "Are you a veteran of World War I? Are you receiving non-service disability? Do you know that as a veteran you are entitled to burial in a National Cemetery? Entitled to burial allowance? Entitled to a flag? Entitled to a grave marker or stone, even though you are buried in a cemetery other than a National? Are you a widow of a veteran? If so, you may be entitled to a widow's pension. There are answers to these questions that are readily available through affiliation with a Barracks of Veterans of World War I, USA, Inc. Wives, widows, sisters, mothers and daughters of a veteran are eligible to join the Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of World War I. "Now is the time for us World War I buddies to stick together and try to obtain some of the benefits that our buddies receive from service," said Robert C. Brown, membership chairman in New York State. Ulster County area barracks and commanders include: Rainald Matheson, commander, Kingston Barracks 864, Box 785A, Yarry Hill Road, Woodstock. Lewis H. VandeMark, commander, New Paltz Barracks 3007, Box 296, New Paltz. Leonard P. Searles, commander Eighth District Department of New York, 263 Mansion Street, West Coxsackie. Brown concludes saying, "Now is the time for you World War I buddies to be reminded of the frailties of life, that as buddies our potential membership grows less day by day. Therefore let us associate ourselves together to continue that fellowship which was ours during the period of the fighting war of 1917-18."

North Dutchess Lists Class For Volunteers

RHINEBECK Classes for adult volunteers will begin at Northern Dutchess Hospital Monday, Nov. 9, taught by Claire Wilcox, RN, director of In-service Education at the hospital. Mrs. Wilcox has divided the course into six two-hour classes extending over two weeks — on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings from 9:45 to 11:45. The volunteer training program has been in effect at NDH for two years and has been termed "most successful" from the standpoint of volunteers, nurses and patients. The volunteers will be trained in non-medical patient services such as bed-making, patient feeding and in-hospital transportation, menu assistance and answering call lights. Anyone over 21 who is interested in this type of community service may call Harriet Baker, volunteer director, for an interview and application form. Mrs. Baker is at the hospital every day except Wednesday or may be reached at her home in Red Hook after 5 p.m.

Donna Smith Weds Gene C. Stoutenburg

St. Peter's Church in Kingston was the setting for the wedding of Miss Donna Marie Smith of Kingston and Gene Carl Stoutenburg of Kingston on Saturday, Oct. 3.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith Jr. of 21 Rogers Street. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stoutenburg of 38 Stephan Street.

The Rev. Daniel Croston officiated at the double ring ceremony. Miss Nan Goldrick, organist, accompanied Richard Scherer who sang traditional wedding selections. Baskets of gladioli decorated the altar and white satin bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a floor length gown of satapeau, fashioned with a peau d'ange lace bodice. Her tapered elbow-sleeves terminated in angel sleeves accented with scalloped peau d'ange lace. A Juliet cap held her floor-length mantilla which was edged with peau d'ange lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Dianne Norton of 174 Hasbrouck Avenue, Kingston, was maid of honor in a hot pink gown of chiffon over silk. Velvet bands of Venice lace accented the high-necked collar, the empire waistline, and cuffs of the chiffon sleeves. She wore a hot pink picture hat and carried a bouquet of light pink carnations with dark pink streamers.

Attendants were Miss Mary Schoonmaker of 44 Ravine Street and Miss Peggy Grunenwald of 133 O'Neil Street, Kingston. Their light pink gowns were styled identically to that of the honor attendant's. They wore large pink picture hats and carried colonial bouquets of dark pink carnations trimmed with light pink streamers.

Wilson Stoutenburg of RFD 2, Box 15, Kingston, was best man for his brother. Ushers were A. J. Smith, brother of the bride, 21 Rogers Street, Kingston, and John Finch, cousin of the bridegroom, Hurley Mountain Road, Hurley.

A reception for 145 guests was held at Elmer's Inn in Ruby.

For her wedding trip to Washington, D.C., the bride selected a navy blue pants suit with gold trim.

'Brecht on Brecht' Opens PAW Season

The Performing Arts of Woodstock's first production of its new season, "Brecht on Brecht," opens this Friday for a three-day run at St. Gregory's Episcopal Church on Route 212 (Woodstock-Saugerties Road) in Woodstock.

Under the direction of Allison Crockett, "Brecht on Brecht," an artistic collage of the various writings of Bertolt Brecht, is neither a play, nor a reading, nor a musical. It is all three — and more — and should provide a most rewarding evening for area theatergoers. The cast includes: Julia Callahan, Jo Chalmers, Martin Henderson, and Larry Shufeldt.

Performances are this weekend only, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, at 8:30 p.m. Tickets will be available at the door. For information call Mrs. John LeFever, Woodstock.

Linda A. Conlin Guest of Honor At Bridal Shower

A surprise bridal shower was given October 3 for Miss Linda A. Conlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Conlin of Hurley. The shower was given in the home of Mrs. Paul Jung, Mt. Marion. Hostesses were Mrs. John Jupin of Elora and Mrs. Terry Conlin of Mt. Marion.

Those attending included the Mmes. Harold Conlin, John Jupin, Terry Conlin, Paul Jung, Oscar Lavatsch, George Wilson Jr., Gilbert Straub, Jane Conlin, Edward Geschwindor, George Wilson, LeRoy VanBramer, Rudy Hellen-schmidt, Emil Wieland, Richard Scharp.

Gifts were received also from relatives and friends unable to attend.

Miss Conlin will become the bride of Edward L. Dux of San Francisco, Calif. on Saturday, Oct. 24.

Tour of Homes on Saturday Will Benefit Hudson YWCA

The second annual Tour of Homes for the benefit of the Hudson YWCA will be held Saturday, in Columbia County.

Nine homes of historical, architectural, and scenic significance will be open to the adult public between the hours of 11 and 5 p.m. In case of heavy rain, the tour will be held on Sunday.

The tour may be started at any of the homes. Tickets, maps and brochures will be available. Road signs and markers at the individual homes will also aid in finding the houses. Information is also available at the Hudson

YWCA, 516 Warren Street.

The home of Mrs. Rosemary Byron at 4 Rossman Avenue is the former home of Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Jacobs. The house was designed for the Jacobs in April 1936 by the architects Miller and Warnecke. The ceilings in the house are of particular interest, with fine use of whites, dark wood, and curves.

Mr. and Mrs. Sol Goldberg's home on Mt. Merino Road features a trophy room 20' x 30' x 16' high containing big game heads obtained during 25 years of hunting in North America.

"Mt. Laurel," home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Woodrow Pulver on Joslen Boulevard, Greenport, was built more than 200 years ago. Floors throughout are of the original wide knotty pine boards, and some of the "12 over 12" windows still have their original glass. A most unusual feature of the house is the smoke house in the attic where are located several of the utensils from the days of its use.

The bricklined clapboard house on the south side of Route 23 in Claverack, built and occupied in the 18th century by a member of the Bay family, is the home of

Dr. and Mrs. Fred Richardson. On the basis of the wainscoting in the halls, the panelling in a large second floor room, and the tool-marks on the hand-hewn oaken beams in the cellar and attic, it is believed that the house dates back to the middle or late 18th century. "The Old Court House" on Route 23 in Claverack is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Frick. A road side historic marker identifies it as the county's "first court-house." As such, while Claverack was the first county seat, it was the scene of some of the most important judicial and political events in the early history of the state and even the nation. The Frick apartment, which contains two of the original rooms and some of the fine old woodwork, will be open.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Schram Jr. on Van Wyck Lane in Claverack is a square, hip-roofed home, constructed near the middle of the 1800's on a grand scale, with large rooms and high ceilings. Extensive redecorating has been done in the past few years, with a hope of restoring the atmosphere of the period in which the house was constructed.

The modern home of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Connor is a two-story Dutch colonial style with gambrel roof. They bay box windows offer a lovely view of the Catskills. Good use is made of color, and there is an informal atmosphere throughout the house, located on Pleasant View Drive in Claverack.

The country home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Toss, one mile in on Old Barrington Road in Hollowville, is set among 10 acres of pine trees. The step-down living room with cathedral ceiling and huge beams contains a massive brick fireplace with raised hearth. A mezzanine library is reached by wrought-iron stairway from the living room.

Refreshments will be served during the tour at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tunney, the Superintendent's residence at the New York State Training School in Hudson. Referred to as Glenwood, this home features a handsome oval stairway and four lovely arched doorways extending from the living room bay window through an entrance hall to the dining room bay window.

Planning Invitation-Only Concert

IN-HOME CONCERT COMMITTEE—Mrs. Thomas Backus, second from right, chairman of the In-Home Concert committee of Ulster County Council Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society, met recently with Mrs. Gunther Meyer (L) hostess of the first in-home concert in Ulster County. The by-invitation-only concert will take place Sunday, Oct. 18 from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Artists for the event will be Claude and Marianne Montoux, and Leon Sayvetz. Mrs. Alan Atherton and Mrs. David Silver (R) are assisting Mrs. Backus and Mrs. Meyer with arrangements. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

New Paltz Theater Group to Audition Tonight and Friday

Auditions will be held tonight and Friday, for 90 Miles Off Broadway's fall production, "Bell, Book and Candle." Directing the play for the New Paltz amateur theatre group will be Mrs. Pat Yaeger, New Paltz. Mrs. Pat Ernie, also of New Paltz, will assist. Auditions will be held from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the Middle School cafeteria. According to Mrs. Yaeger, the play dates are set for December 3rd, 4th and 5th. This production will launch "90 Miles" ninth season of community theatre.

Elizabeth Leonard Observes Birthday

On Sunday, Sept. 27, a surprise party was given for Elizabeth Leonard of 100 West O'Reilly Street, Kingston, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Hainer, Route 1, Kingston. The occasion marked her 77th birthday.

Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. William Strubel, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Prosser, Mr. and Mrs. John Bruck, Jim Hernandez, and Eugene Terwilliger.

Also, the Mmes. Ivan Terwilliger, Mary Clare, Vivian Smith and Emma Curtiss; and the Misses Patty Strubel, Maureen Strubel, Geraldine Colvin, Cathy Hainer, Jennifer Hainer, and three great-nephews, Johnny, Timmy and Billy Bruck.

Coach Bob Durkin, who hoped that yesterday's contest would bring his team to a fine edge for the Adelphi encounter, was happy to get away with a win despite the mediocre effort.

"We almost let their hustle take away our skill," he said.

Durkin also mused that his men may be getting a little overconfident but he hopes Quinnipiac knocked some it out of them.

The game was even in serious scoring threats through much of the first half, though New Paltz kept the ball on offense most of the time. Only a brilliant diving save by Quinnipiac goalie Don Block off a Poggi-

Asare shot kept the game scoreless.

Quinnipiac drew first blood

Kingston Homecoming Game Heads Grid Schedule

By MORT LAFFIN

KINGSTON
The Fighting Maroons of Kingston High School take on the Pioneers of Poughkeepsie Saturday in the Homecoming Day celebration — A Tribute to Tommy Maines, at Dietz Stadium. Festivities are slated before the game, scheduled for 1:30 p.m., and will continue at halftime and after the game.

The event is sponsored by the Student Council of Kingston High. The Maines Memorial Trophy will be presented to the outstanding player in the tilt and will be given to the winner by Mrs. Thomas Maines. Maines, who passed away this year, was a four-year letterman at Kingston, 1932-35 and an outstanding athlete at Syracuse University.

Judges for the trophy will be: Ron Gabriele, KHS coach and sports director at radio station WGHQ; Mike Perry, Athletic Director of Ulster County Community College and sports director at radio station WKNY; Mort Laffin, Daily Freeman Sports Department.

During the halftime ceremonies, a Homecoming Queen will be crowned as the result of a school-wide vote. Each player on the team sponsored a candidate.

As many former teammates of Maines from 1934 as could be contacted have been sent invitations to the event and will sit in a special section at the Stadium for the game.

Both Kingston and Poughkeepsie are in the process of rebuilding and KHS has had the worst of it so far, with an 0-3 record. Poughkeepsie, co-champions of the Dutchess County Scholastic League Central Section, are 3-1 on the season.

Scouting reports indicate that both squads will be working for the play that will go all the way and a high-scoring, exciting contest is expected.

Kingston Coach Tony Badalato will go with junior quarterback Glenn Littelfield, who is always capable of throwing the bomb. His favorite targets are Dennis Harrison, John Tiano and Don Lackaye.

Amos Howard and Tony Johnson lead the visitors, coached by Bill Maher.

Other key games dot the Mid-Hudson Valley Scholastic Football scene.

In the Ulster County Athletic League, Highland faces Wallkill in a game that will see the Highlanders score fast and often. Doug Geer has emerged as a premier runner in the UCL and balances the steady, powerful running of fullback Perry Monroe. Wallkill will be hard-pressed to do anything with Coach Lem Atkins' boys.

Ontora travels to New Paltz for a UCL tilt with the high-scoring Huguenots. Ontora has been hampered by injuries, particularly to star halfback Chuck Lemons. New Paltz is 3-0 in league play and is currently tied with Rondout for first place. Vlad Hoyt stars for the Indians. Jay Askert calls signals for the home side.

Rondout travels to Pine Bush for a pivotal battle with the defending champions. The Bushmen appear to be having a hard time this season but still manage to put up a formidable front. The Ganders will have to win this one to stay on top.

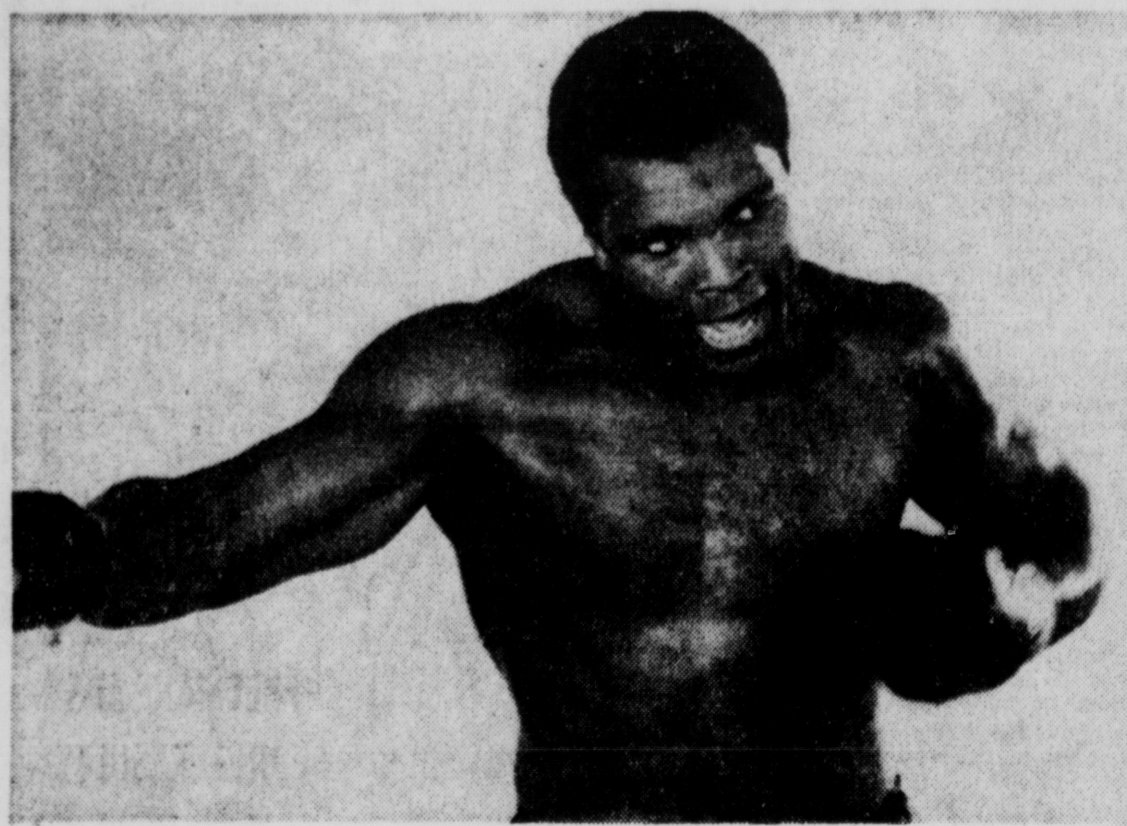

Mike Alecca, Chuck Marshall, George Wallack and Bill Parete star for the co-leaders.

The Liberty Redskins, with

All-League halfback and scoring leader, Bruce Rosencranse, will host the Dukes of Marlboro and their fine runner, George Salovich. Neither team appears to be able of overhauling the leaders for the UCL crown, but Liberty always starts slow and could be hitting its stride by Saturday.

Rick Koegel and Ray Bean will try to reaffirm their pass-catch relationship as the Sawyers of Saugerties host the battlers of Roy C. Ketcham High in a DCSL tilt. Other games on the slate include: Haldane at Red Hook and Livingston-Manor at Ellenville.

Cassius Clay-Quarry Bout in Kingston

GROWLING ALI — Cassius Clay (Muhammad Ali) goes through warm up exercises in Atlanta, Ga., yesterday as he trains for his Oct. 26 bout with Jerry Quarry. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

By MORT LAFFIN

KINGSTON
The Municipal Auditorium on Broadway in Kingston will be the scene of the only closed-circuit television showing of the Cassius Clay (Muhammad Ali)-Jerry Quarry title fight, Monday, Oct. 26th.

The auditorium will be the only spot between New York City and Albany where the fight will be shown. There will be no home TV. Tickets can be purchased at the Neighborhood Barber Shop, Neighborhood Shopping Center and the Kingston Barber Shop, Kingston Plaza. It is unlikely that there will be a ticket sale on the night of the fight.

The fight is being brought to Kingston from its site in the Municipal Auditorium in Atlanta, Georgia, by Sports Action and Tennis Unlimited Incorporated. It is being promoted in this area by Joe Fariello of the Peers Boxing Management, Rhinebeck.

Fariello was the trainer of Buster Mathias, former challenger for the version of the heavyweight crown held by Joe Frazier. Fariello is still the head trainer at Peers.

The bout marks the return to the ring of Ali or Clay, if you will, after a three-year absence. Clay was stripped of his title and not allowed to fight because he refused induction into the United States Army. His case is still being appealed, but he has obtained a license and has been allowed to fight again.

"The big question in this fight," said Fariello, "is whether or not Clay can overcome the long period of inactivity and return to the form that made him one of history's greatest boxers, if not the greatest. He is undefeated, but by his own admission, is mellowed and has lost some of his competitive edge. It will be a whale of a fight," he concluded.

Air Force Vs. Navy

NEW YORK (UPI) — Air Force Academy, baby of the nation's three major military academies, wings its way into the nation's capital this weekend to show off Washington's football program has stabilized into maturity.

The Falcons, having soared to sixth spot in the latest United Press International coaches rankings, take on Navy Saturday at Robert F. Kennedy Stadium in the fourth renewal of the brief series between the two schools.

Navy, like sister school Army, has fallen on hard times but the Middles aren't sending out distress signals. They'll make the short trip from Annapolis and all the Navy brass will be there.

Unfortunately, the Fly boy officers and Cadets will be there too along with what may be coach Ben Martin's best team since Air Force began varsity football in 1956.

Ironically, the Falcons are coached by a man who once placed for Navy and graduated with honors from the U. S. Naval Academy in 1945.

The Falcons are led by Ernie Jennings, a wide receiver who can fly and has scored nine touchdowns this season while the Air Force achieve a 5-0 record. At the controls for the Falcons is Bob Parker, who may be one of the smartest quarterbacks in college football this year.

Parker, a senior with an A-minus average in engineering mechanics, leads the nation in total offense with 276 yards per game and has accounted for 13 TD's.

Navy, winner of only four games in the last 25 outings the past three years, will make a fight of it but the only way for the Middles to escape defeat is for the Pentagon to cancel the Air Force's flight orders from Colorado Springs. We like the Air Force in this one, 35-20.

Army, having traded shots with the likes of Nebraska, Tennessee and Notre Dame on successive weekends, returns to competition more within its range by facing Virginia.

Although the Cadets are 1-4, look for them to bounce back. The pick is Army 24, Virginia 21.

Big games in the South send Georgia Tech against eighth-ranked Auburn and 15th ranked Tennessee against Alabama. Auburn, scoring at a 36.5 clip, should run away from the Engineers, who lost their top runner last Saturday. Make it Auburn 35, Georgia Tech 14.

Alabama also has the scoring power as demonstrated against ranked USC and Mississippi and we favor coach Bear Bryant's Tide in this Southern slugfest, 28-14.

Third-ranked Notre Dame improves the quality of opposition Saturday against Missouri but the Tigers will be without Joe Moore, their best ball carrier.

Finch Scores High Triple

KINGSTON
Rolling games of 212-201-220, Barbara Finch registered the top women's triple of the 1970-71 season with a 633 in the Bowlerama Quads League.

TOM BUJY moved into the tenth spot on men's triples with a 656 in the Friday Nite Mixed League. His high game of 226 was matched by Tom Horvath. Jenny Hackett led the women with 493. The team highs were by the Highballs with 752-2050.

TOM BERNARDINI paced the Bowlers Club Major loop with 607 but Pete Ferretti was the big story with a strong 266 solo. Pete's triple was 606. Tony Pavlak and Herb Petersen had 604.

CHRIS SCHICK laced a 254-625 in the Father and Son League. The solo total was a league high.

NINA WERBALOWSKY was tops in the Monday Matinee League with 190-518. Best team was Card 'N' Party with 643-1791.

JIM HAGGERTY rolled 234-601 in Commercial League play. Dawson's Cleaners were scratch champs with 2423 and Cardinal Inn took the handicap high with 2549.

JESS HULSAIN was the standout in Sange's Independent action with 237-583. Sunnyside Grille's team turned in 872-2529.

HERB PETERSEN had the best of a number of fine triples in the Summit Classic with 646. Other plus 600's were: Bob Overfield, 625; Marty Petersen, 614; Jim Naccarato, 614; Tom Carlinio, 600; Tony Spada, 613; Pete Edelmann, 617; and Bob Shlightner, 601.

Larry McHugh's 246 was high single.

PAT AMITRANO was the leader in the IBM Feather loop with 501. Leanne Warren's 194 Inn had a 734 single and Sauer's was top solo effort.

The series easily beat the previous high of 612 set by Gilda Bach.

Finch's score overshadowed six other plus-500 efforts. Jackie Glaser carded a 551 including a 209 game. Kathy DeCicco, holder of third place in the top ten with 612, came up with 539 that included a 213 solo. Joan Smith pounded out a 537 including a 206 single. Lucille Steen had 532, Rose Schatzel 509, and Lois Ausanio 502.

HARRY PERSONEUS and DOROTHY WOOD were the top Sunday Nite Pinbenders. Harry's triple was 539 while Dorothy scored 462. John Lasher's 192 was high male single but Mildred Pisano almost matched that in leading the women with 185.

Ebel's Market led the teams with 796-2240.

JEANNE WHISPELL had a 459 in the Powder Puff League. Top single was Marge McCutcheon's 174. Port Ewen's Farmers Market with 530 and Aldrich Construction Company with 1505 were team leaders.

PERLA BOLLIN led women bowlers in Monday Nite Mixed play with 204-481. John Cangelosi paced the men with 209-550.

JOHN FASSBENDER came up with a 375 triple in the Standard Furniture Kingston Booster League. Ken Kouhoup's 206 was best individual game score. Team highs were recorded by Lommoreaux ARCO with 940 and Ten Grand Tavern with 2515.

MARIAN WHITTAKER blasted the pins for a 568-203 and Carlinio, 600; Tony Spada, 613; Pete Edelmann, 617; and Bob Shlightner, 601.

ANNE BAUER had a triple of 514. Gloria Meggison hit 501 and Gail Schultz fired a single of 187. In team scoring, Katsbaan 187. Inn had a 734 single and Sauer's Sizzlers carded 2127.

Synagogue News

Agudas Achim

Succos services will be held at Congregation Agudas Achim, 254 Lucas Avenue, tonight at 6:10 p.m.; Friday at 8:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. Shabbat services at 8:30 a.m. and 5:55 p.m. Rabbi Howard Gershon and Cantor Herman Slomovits will officiate. Light Yom Tov candles today at 7 p.m. Light Shabbat candles Friday at 5:55 p.m.

Sunday Rabbi and Mrs. Howard Gershon will hold a reception for members of the synagogue at their Succah, 54 Johnston Avenue, between the hours of 2 and 5 p.m.

The Sisterhood of Agudas Achim is sponsoring a Succah party Tuesday, Oct. 20, at 1:30 p.m. This will take place in the synagogue Succah at 254 Lucas Avenue. Entertainment and refreshments are planned. All may attend.

Thursday evening, Oct. 22, there will be a Simchat Torah Children's Party in the synagogue at 6:30 p.m. Flags will be given out and refreshments will be served. All children and parents may attend.

Temple Emanuel

Succos Sabbath evening services will be held Friday, beginning at 7:30 p.m. at Temple Emanuel, 243 Albany Avenue. The public is welcome to attend. Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn will conduct the services, assisted by Dr. John Park. Rabbi Eichhorn's sermon is entitled, "A Season For Rejoicing."

During services, the memories of the following will be invoked: Morris Miller, Tillie Naigles, Klara Kugelmann, Hyman Bauman, Ignatz Rosenzweig, Bessie Kramer, Zissah Elka Markson, Diana Stone. Following services, the congregation may attend the Oneg Shabbat, sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Motzkin in honor of their son, Barry, who will become a Bar Mitzvah Saturday. Services begin at 11:45 a.m. Saturday.

The Adult Study Course on Great Jewish Books has been postponed indefinitely in order to encourage presons to participate in the Jewish Community Council Adult Education program which will begin Nov. 15.

Consecration—Simchat Torah Services will be held next Wednesday evening, Oct. 21, at 7:30 p.m. The traditional parade of the Torahs around the sanctuary will take place. The 45 new students in the Temple Religious School will be officially consecrated.

Concluding Succos Yizkor Services will be held on Thursday morning at 10 a.m.

The Membership Committee announces that Mrs. Harriet Greenspan and Mrs. Isaac Kunst affiliated with the congregation during the past week. Anyone interested in Temple membership is asked to contact Albert Spiegel, Harold Monashefsky or Rabbi Eichhorn.

Dear Abby

Shake Him; Send Bill

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: First I want to say that I know I did wrong and I am not looking for any excuses. I was not feeling well so I went to a doctor (internist), and after four visits he became quite amorous. Being lonely and depressed, I responded. He is in his fifties, short, stout and not at all physically attractive, but he has a warm and powerful personality. I am 35, blonde, thin and fairly attractive.

We arranged to meet at his office after hours. No winning or dining, everything took place right in his office. We became intimate. Well, can you imagine how I felt when I received a bill from him for these social visits? Don't misunderstand, I expect to pay for his professional services, but he charged me for two office calls which were not professional.

Now I feel cheap and hurt. Should I pay the bill and say nothing? Or should I tell him how I feel? I certainly didn't expect to pay him for his lovemaking. Since he saw me after office hours do you think he's entitled to a fee?

DEAR HURT: A fee? He is entitled to be booted out of the medical profession for unethical practices. And if you really want to shake the old boy up, tell him you're a "professional" and send him a bill.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 18 years and my husband has always called my mother and father by their first names. (My parents are quite young, and they never indicated they didn't like it. In fact, I always thought they liked it.) Recently, during a family argument, my father told my husband that from that time on he didn't wish to be addressed by his first name—that "Mister" would suit him fine. My husband was really hurt and shocked, and so was I. He had never used their names to indicate any lack of respect.

Of course, he will not call my parents by their first names any more, but it won't be easy after 18 years.

Abby, do you think my husband was wrong for using their first names in the first place, or was my father wrong for not telling him he didn't like it until now?

DEAR CONFUSED: I think your father spoke in anger when he demanded that your husband address him as "Mister" instead of by his first name as he had done for the last 18 years. If your father had any objections, he should have mentioned them 18 years ago.

DEAR ABBY: Am I an unnatural grandmother? Believe me, I love my grandchildren, but I become so exasperated with one daughter who phones me, or when I phone her says, "Just a moment, Nancy (who is 22 months old) wants to say hi to you."

Sometimes I've said, "Please Dear, some other time, I'm in a hurry," but she ignores me and goes to get the baby anyway. Then I can hear my daughter in the background saying, "Say hi to Grandma." Say hi to Grandma. Then there is either a dead silence or more prodding from Mamma until the baby either whimpers, cries or screams, or says something that sounds like, "Ga ga goo ga ga." I keep saying "Hi, Nancy." Then the mother says, "Just a second I'm trying to get the phone away from her." More screaming and commotion while I wait until Mamma either humors the child into silence or puts her somewhere.

I know there is nothing you can do about my problem, Abby, but gee, it sure felt good to get it off my chest.

GRANDMA
CONFIDENTIAL TO GAMBLER'S WIFE: From your letter I would say your husband is a compulsive gambler. He cannot walk away from a gambling event when he is ahead. Being compulsive, he goes on betting until he has lost all his winnings—and more. The ordinary gambler is not. He has to lose in order to gratify himself, and he'll keep gambling until he loses everything.

Anonymous in your town, your husband should drop in for a meeting. He has nothing to lose. He's lost everything.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES:

You find it necessary to change your method or system where some financial situation is concerned if you are to have the financial well-being that appeals to you. Get the advice of one who is highly experienced in handling money so that it goes farther or pays better returns. Make improvements on your property.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Instead of arguing with persons who are important to you financially, ask for advice and win their goodwill. You are interested in gaining a new ally. Follow through on this and get good results.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Clear up moot points with allies and have more success and happiness in the future. You have great charm now and can make an excellent new ally. Don't accept that social invitation in P.M. It could lead to trouble.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Solving all those personal problems is easy now, provided you handle them in a steady fashion. Making some change is necessary so that the future improves for you. Avoid persons who could get you into trouble.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Come to a quick decision with friends as to the best way you can spend your free time together and all will go well. Join a group activity that brings you new friends. Don't forget to pay your bills.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Making certain to follow all rules and laws that are applicable to you keeps you out of serious trouble now. Back an official who is having difficulties. Find a more ideal way to handle career matters.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Why not be clever and forget the regular dull routine and look into some new outlet that will add considerably to your income? Set up appointments early with bigwigs. Show that you are a person of wisdom, talents.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't do anything that will make others think you are not doing your work properly or not keeping agreements. Now is the time to straighten out any quarrel with mate. Don't wait until it is too late.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Although your ideas do not coincide with those of a partner, your judgment is apt to be better now, so do some gentle persuading along your own lines. Cement better relations. Evening is fine for fun.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you persuade a co-worker to do things your way, you find you can speed up production considerably. A little more time spent on improving health is wise. Feeling better and earn more.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Your ideas for pleasing one who means a great deal to you are good, so use them, and don't permit others to deter you from such action. Get busy on that important personal matter and forget about one that is trivial. Show cleverness.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Much care must be exercised both in home life and where your work is concerned if you are to remain on even keel. Improve your credit rating. Walk a straight path and all is well.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Planning a trip, even though it could be a short one, is fine now, whether for business or visiting. Making all the arrangements carefully saves you money and time. Neglecting some important work could be hazardous.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, he or she will be one of those very stubborn young children who have to be taught early to learn by listening and obeying so that the life can become successful, otherwise it will be just the opposite. Also teach to be alert for any opportunities that arise so as not to let them slip through the fingers. There is a love of money here, though, and this lends impetus to the activities. Religious training is most important early in life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU! Carroll Righter's Individual Forecast for your sign for November is now ready. For your copy send your birthdate and $1 to Carroll Righter Forecast (The Daily Freeman), Box 629, Holliswood, Calif. 90028. (© 1970, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

TRICK of the TRADE

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

UNFORGIVEN: (Q.) I guess this is sort of a confession. Our family went looking at houses. While my parents were getting an estimate on one of the houses we looked at, I wandered into the kitchen. There were some samples of sink top material there. They were pretty and I liked the patterns. So I took a few—10 to be exact.

I put them under the seat of our car and forgot about them until my dad found them several days later. He grounded me for a month. The month is up. But my dad is a juvenile officer on the police force and he is dead set against crime.

He gives me at least one lecture a day about what I did. He has sentenced me for life. He looks at me in disgust and says that, starting this early, I'm headed straight for a life of crime.

I'm sorry. I've paid the penalty he gave me. I will never steal anything again. But how can I get my father to stop condemning me and to trust and love me again? My mother realizes I made a mistake and has learned from it. She has forgiven me.—Convicted at Age 13 in Michigan.

(A.) You have learned that theft does not pay. Your father needs to learn that it is blessed to forgive.

Tell him that you will never take another thing that doesn't belong to you. Tell him that you know now that you could never live a life of crime. Tell him that you have paid the penalty he set and that it and his advice have helped you and trust you.

RIDING AROUND: (Q.) My friend is 16 and now drives a car. I'm still 15 and don't. She wants me to ride around with her, but my parents say no. This doesn't make any sense to me. Does it to you?—Non Riding Daughter in Texas.

(A.) I can see at least three sensible reasons for their rule: (1) Your friend may not be a safe driver. (2) Her "riding around" may just be a way of wasting time. (3) It might get her into trouble.

Thus, if you were riding around with her you might be physically injured, you might be wasting your time, or you might get into trouble.

'Hawaii' Suspense Leader

NEW YORK (AP) — With Wednesday night's episode, the remodeling of NBC's "The Virginian" into "The Men from Shiloh" was completed.

The second of the series' new stars was introduced—Lee Majors, once one of Barbara Stanwyck's sons in "The Big Valley." He played a paroled convict—justifiable homicide—who was rescued from a lynching party. At episode's end he had been hired as a hand by Stewart Granger, this season's owner of Shiloh.

Between the opening lynching party and the finish, there was a long and talky story lacking both action and sense. Granger was escorting the 17-year-old daughter of a tycoon out West in a private car on the Cheyenne train. His quick action saved the young man and got him aboard the train. The girl promptly flipped over him. The plot thickened only slightly when four men aboard the train planned to kidnap the girl for ransom.

Naturally, our hero foiled the plot and was revealed as a nice fellow before the wind-up shoot-out, but not too soon to keep the audience from dozing off.

The series, even in the "Virginian" days, has frequently suffered from padding—a passable 60-minute story dragged out to 90. The padding Wednesday was achieved by some of the most uninspired boy-girl dialogue this season.

It now appears that the anticipated three-cornered ratings race between three suspense series late Wednesday night isn't much of a contest. CBS's "Hawaii Five-O" is far out front of NBC's "McCloud" and ABC's "Dan August."

The Nielsen would suggest that "Hawaii Five-O" is therefore the best show of the three. That is not necessarily so, but it is a handsome, professionally produced hour that takes advantage of the scenery of the 50th state. But like all series, it has good nights with stories that work and some bad nights, too.

This week things worked pretty well. It was a standard action story based on the theft of a priceless violin from a visiting Russian musician. The thieves—who overacted wildly—tried to ransom it from the musician and his secretary-guard. But McGarrett, crime fighter extraordinary, came to the rescue at the last moment.

Jack Lord, as McGarrett, dominates the series. However, he plays the part with such savage, humorless intensity, that it becomes monotonous after brief exposure.

NBC's "The Name of the Game," which dropped co-star Tony Franciosa earlier this season after repeated disagreements, will continue the season without a regular replacement. Robert Culp will star in two Franciosa vehicles, and the rest will be played by guest stars.

Nixon on Soviets—A Major U.N. Address

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite talk of an intensified cold war, President Nixon fears a "new isolationism" at home and plans an effort to reach a live-and-let-live agreement with the Soviet Union.

His idea, while acknowledging his actions in public life have stamped him a strong anti-Communist, is to seek a coexistence working to the mutual benefit of the United States and Russia.

At the same time, Nixon believes weariness after 25 years of shouldering global burdens may be turning the American people toward isolation, which he feels would be a mistake.

Otherwise, according to his thinking—and he has an inkling Moscow might agree—a U.S. retreat to homebase would leave the world by 1995 with only two superpowers—The Soviet Union and Red China because no non-Communist nation could fill the void.

Nixon is of the view the Soviets would prefer quite a different world in 1995, a world in which the United States would continue its global role but one in which Moscow and Washington would avoid direct confrontation.

Still, the chief executive feels competition will continue between the two nations and differences now are so deep and profound they cannot be bridged by their leaders smiling, shaking hands or coming to know each other better at a summit conference.

With these thoughts in mind, Nixon is preparing a major address on Oct. 23 before the U.N. General Assembly.

It could well be he will make a direct appeal to the Soviets to coexist in peace—a move that in a sense would bypass the machinery of the international organization.

While he believes the U.N.

can be a useful vehicle for settling difficulties between some of the smaller nations, it cannot be used to head off disputes between the superpowers.

The United States and the Soviet Union, he is convinced, would never submit their fates to the vote of more than 100 countries.

Instead, what is needed, he feels, is a resolve on each side to find areas of common agreement while avoiding a potential nuclear apocalypse.

In the President's view, three major factors work against any confrontation:

—Neither country likely would unleash nuclear weapons that would claim 40 million to 70 million lives on the other side, knowing that retaliation in kind and similar casualties at home would result.

—Each nation has a motive for scaling down the arms race, or at least preserving the status quo, because of pressures on national budgets. He sees the Soviet arms burden as two to three times greater than the United States' because of the Russians' smaller Gross National Product.

—The two countries can profit through increased contacts and, most particularly, trade which offers great promise for joint benefits.

Further, Nixon believes the Soviets have foreign problems as aggravating as those here, and has domestic difficulties of a similar magnitude.

Egyptian Call... Urgent Debate

(Combined Wire Services)

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.

— Egypt stole the spotlight from the silver anniversary of the United Nations today with a request for an urgent debate on the Middle East as soon as the commemorative session is over.

The question is already on the General Assembly's agenda, but diplomats had hoped to avoid a public airing of the dispute between Israel and her Arab neighbors.

The commemorative session, attended by chiefs of state and government from all over the world, began Wednesday and ends Oct. 24.

The Middle East debate, requested Wednesday by Egyptian Ambassador Mohammed H. El-Zayyat, is expected to get under way Oct. 26.

A U.N. spokesman also announced that the Big Four foreign ministers have accepted an invitation to dine with Secretary-General U Thant on Oct. 22 or 23 in Thant's offices. The American, British, Soviet and French diplomats are expected to discuss the Middle East and other world problems.

U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers was arriving today for the commemorative session. He invited Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to dinner on Friday, and Gromyko will entertain Rogers at the Soviet mission Monday night.

Rogers was to see a number of other foreign ministers during his stay in New York, including Mahmoud Riad of Egypt.

Thant set the theme of the commemorative session Wednesday with a message calling on member states to try to provide a brighter future for the one billion people in countries that have gained independence in the past quarter century.

"Squalid poverty lives side by side with overabundance on our earth," he said. "We have reached the moon but we have not reached each other."

Thant called for a fresh start toward realizing the goals of the U.N. charter.

"The United Nations, this hesitant, almost reluctant instrument of nations of world peace and unity can only succeed if its constituent members support it, love it, give it their best and want it to succeed," he said. "It will fail if governments scoff at it and continue to tread their isolated, divisive paths."

The shortcomings of the world forum over the past quarter century made up the theme of most of the speeches on the first day of the commemorative session. Some blamed the big powers.

Prime Minister Errol W. Barrow of the Barbados declared that "the major powers have been progressively abandoning the United Nations as the main instrument of regulating and harmonizing international affairs."

Peru's premier, Gen. Ernesto Montagne, declared that big power rivalries "are sapping the strength of the United Nations."

Meanwhile, the Soviet Union today detailed its plan for peace in the Middle East. It called for a two-stage Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab territories and demilitarized zones manned by United Nations troops.

The proposal came as the United States attempted to get the Middle East peace talks started again. Secretary of State William P. Rogers was going to New York this afternoon to meet Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad, apparently to urge that Egypt withdraw Soviet-built missiles from the Suez Canal cease-fire zone.

Arab diplomats at the United Nations offered little hope for such a pullback.

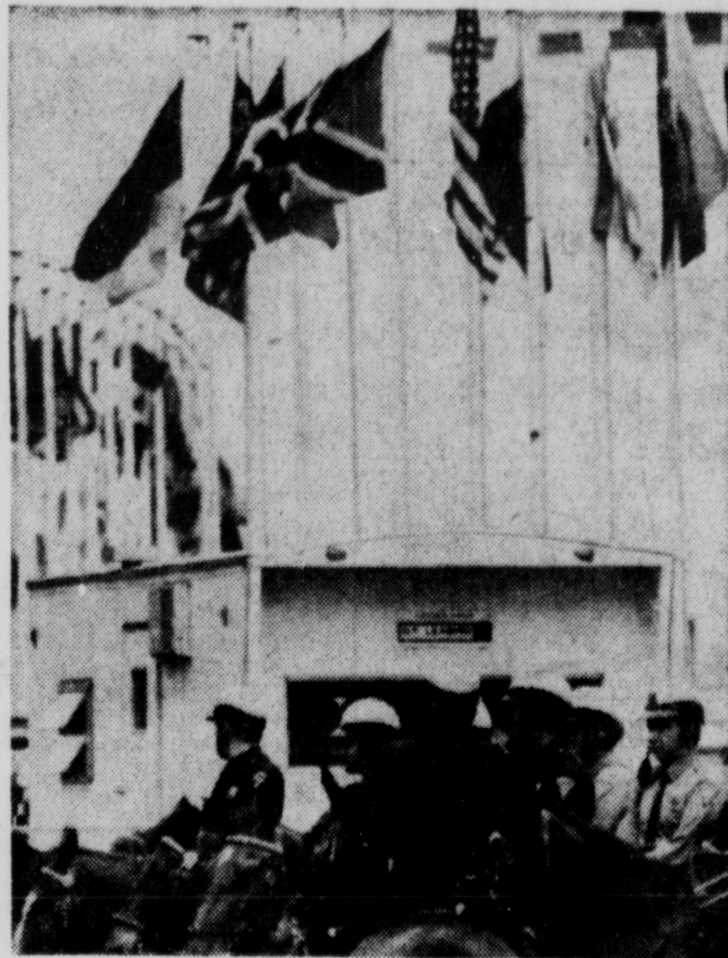

It looked as though the United Nations would be the scene of a noisy debate as well as "quiet diplomacy" on the Middle East. Egyptian Ambassador to the U.N. Mohammed H. el-Zayyat formally asked the General Assembly to schedule a full debate as soon as possible and U.N. sources said it might be set for Oct. 26, two days after the end of the commemorative session devoted to ceremonial functions.

In Egypt, voters today elected a new president, with acting President Anwar Sadat the only candidate. He took over the job Sept. 28 when Gamal Abdel Nasser died and a majority of the eight million eligible voters balloting support him as expected he will be sworn in Saturday. Results of the election will be known Friday.

The Soviet proposal, printed as a commentary on the front page of the Communist party newspaper Pravda, was an elaboration of an earlier plan it claimed was "being ignored by Western propaganda."

Arabs diplomats at the United Nations offered little hope for such a pullback. It looked as though the United Nations would be the

Montreal, Separatists... Less Intransigent Stands

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Canadian government's position in negotiations for the release of two kidnapped officials is "not intransigent," the premier of Quebec has said.

The separatist FLQ also appeared slightly less intransigent in its ransom demands.

Robert Lemieux, the lawyer appointed by the FLQ to negotiate with the government said he interpreted the latest communique from his clandestine clients as authority to bargain on their ransom demands for the two hostages.

Lemieux' statement came only hours before he was to resume negotiations for the release of the two abduction victims, British Trade Commissioner James C. Cross and Quebec Labor and Immigration Minister Pierre LaPorte.

Quebec Premier Robert Bourassa also seemed to be accentuating the positive by declaring Wednesday night the government position in the negotiations was "not intransigent."

"The main thing now is to establish guarantees ... that Mr. Cross and Mr. LaPorte will be released alive," Bourassa said following a cabinet meeting in Quebec City.

"We are always ready to negotiate ... we are flexible," he said.

Previously, the FLQ had instructed Lemieux to negotiate solely on how to apply the six conditions contained in their ransom demands.

Both LaPorte and Cross are presumed to be alive, though no word has been heard from either of them since letters they wrote were made public Sunday night by the FLQ.

A statement, said to have been written by the European branch of the FLQ, was distributed to news media in Paris Wednesday. It said the FLQ would strike new blows against the Canadian government in coming weeks. "Means of communication by air and rail, exclusively within Canada and outside Quebec" will be affected.
